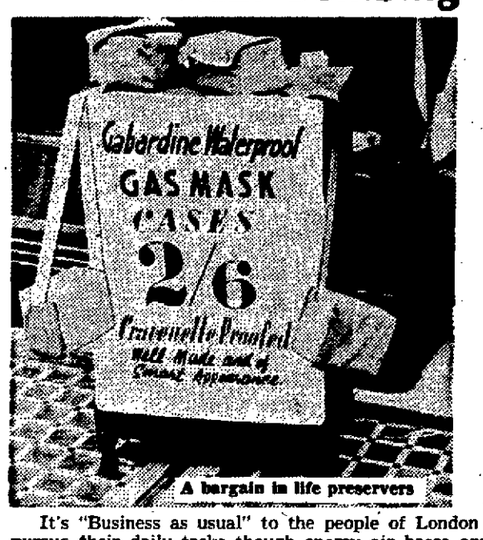
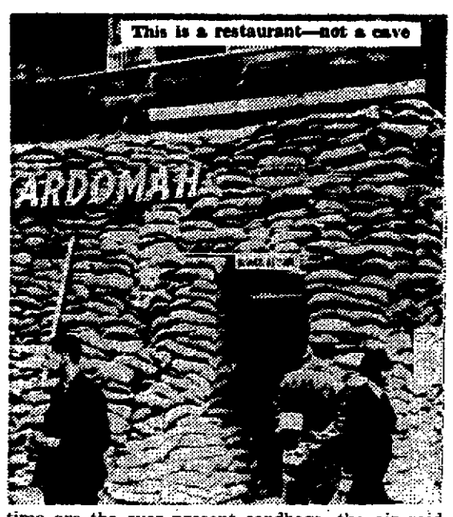
Nazi Bombing Threat Draws Closer, But Life Goes on as Usual in London



A bargain in life preservers

Window shopping with one eye on the sky



It's "Business as usual" to the people of London who calmly pursue their daily tasks though enemy air bases are now but a few minutes' flying time away from England's southeastern coastal cities. Grim reminders of the terror that may come from the sky at any time are the ever present sandbags, the air raid shelters and the "bargains" in gas mask cases.

F. D. R. Promises Quick Defense Action

Attacks Groups Creating Panic In Public Mind

President Ignores Republican Demand That He Declare Himself Out of Third Term Picture; Defends New Deal Spending

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The national capital hummed with activity today as President Roosevelt drove forward to make good his pledge of a swift and adequate national defense program that will provide immediate jobs for tens of thousands of unemployed.

As predicted, the president, in last night's radio address to the country, ignored the demands of his Republican opponents that he declare himself out of the picture as a third term candidate. Observers believed that it was more certain than ever that Mr. Roosevelt would say nothing on this score until after the Republican convention next month, and possibly not until the Democratic convention in July.

Politicians noted, however, that, in the internationally broadcast "fireside chat," the president answered critics who have been charging that the New Deal poured billions of defense dollars "down a rat hole" and has nothing to show for it.

They also noted his attack on "sectional or racial or political groups" which he charged were being egged on by clever foreign agents "to create confusion of counsel, public indecision, political paralysis and eventually, a state of panic."

Meanwhile, leaders on Capitol Hill were being sounded out for their reaction to possible nomination of a line officer as secretary of the navy. The officer in question was Admiral William D. Leahy, former chief of naval operations and present governor of Puerto Rico. Leahy is believed certain to come back into the Washington picture, possibly in the cabinet post.

Announcement of the personnel of President Roosevelt's "national defense emergency coordinating group" was expected within the next few days. It was probable that the president was discussing make-up of this group with Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins today as they returned from an overnight cruise on the White House yacht, Potomac.

The president left Washington last night immediately after his broadcast with Hopkins, Brig. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, White House secretary and military aide, and Captain Daniel J. Callaghan, naval aide, for a cruise down the Potomac river. Return was set for early this afternoon, which automatically cancelled the customary Monday morning conference with Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senate

CAR HITS BIKE, BOY, 5, KILLED

Child Meets Death as Older Brother Takes Him For Ride on Crossbar.

Richard E. Hemperley, who would have celebrated his sixth birthday Friday was dead today, victim of a traffic accident last night in which his 13-year-old brother, Dean, with whom he was riding on a bicycle, was injured.

The boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hemperley, 25 Arnold avenue, were struck by an automobile shortly after 8:30 p. m. on Springmill street just outside the city limits.

State highway patrolmen said the car was operated by Frank A. Hetler, 23, of R. D. 3, Mansfield. He was released after questioning.

Richard died of a skull fracture and broken neck en route to the General hospital in an ambulance, Coroner H. C. Winbigler said.

Dean, who suffered a fractured shoulder and head lacerations was still in the hospital today. His condition was reported as "good."

The fatality, which boosted Richland county's 1940 traffic toll to five, was one of the two deaths recorded in the Mansfield area over the week-end. Last year at this time six persons had been killed.

Nick Bobolitz, 58, of Canton, driver of an automobile which crashed into a utility pole near Hayesville at 2:30 a. m. yesterday was among the seven persons whose lives were claimed in highway accidents in the state.

Two passengers in the light coupe, demolished by the crash, are still in the Good Samaritan hospital at Ashland. They are

Nazis Accuse Allies Of Liner Attack Plan

'Serious Warning' Given U. S. Embassy Of 'Criminal Attempt' on Ship Rescuing Americans

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN—(AP)—"A most serious warning" has been given the United States embassy repeatedly in the past two days that the Allies either planned or already had carried out a "criminal attempt" on the American liner President Roosevelt, authorized sources disclosed today.

The President Roosevelt is en route to Ireland to bring Americans home.

The German sources said the warnings had been addressed to Alexander C. Kirk, charge d'affaires of the United States embassy.

"Evidence keeps accumulating more and more and hour by hour," they said, "that some sort of manipulation is planned regarding the refugee ship in the hope thereby of drawing the United States into the war.

"We hope within a few days, possibly tomorrow, to lay before you concrete facts on just how we warned the American embassy.

"You will then realize with what extreme care and earnestness we pointed out all the circumstances confirming our suspicion of a planned attempt on the S. S. President Roosevelt."

(German naval authorities last October warned President Roosevelt they had learned the British intended to sink the liner Iroquois and then blame Germany. The ship reached New York without incident.)

BRITISH DENIAL

LONDON—(AP)—A foreign office source said today "no sane man" could accept the warning given the United States charge d'affaires in Berlin that the Allies were planning or already had carried out a "criminal attack" on the liner President Roosevelt.

"In the past," this source said, "it has been the German policy to accuse the Allies of doing exactly what the Germans themselves have in mind.

LEGION OPENS PILOT DRIVE

Pledges Help to Government In Effort to Enroll 10,000 For Flying Services.

An intensive drive to recruit trainees for the government air service will be launched in Ohio immediately by the American Legion, as the result of action taken yesterday by the executive committee of the state Legion in Columbus.

R. B. Gardner, Mansfield, commander of the Ohio department, said that his command would give all possible aid to the war department on its request for 10,000 air corps recruits from the Fifth Corps area which is made up of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Gardner, a World war pilot and a captain in the Air Corps reserve, said he would confer today with J. M. Harrington, operator of the Mansfield airport, relative to asking federal aid in developing the airport and the possibility of converting it into a training school under military supervision.

The Ohio American Legion notified the war department yesterday of its willingness to co-operate in every possible way with the national defense program. Gardner said that a quota of 10,000 air corps recruits had already been set up by the war department for the Fifth Corps area, and that the Legion would aid in recruiting trainees.

Yesterday's meeting at Columbus was in answer to a request Gardner received last week from L. B. Rock, Dayton, civilian chairman of recruiting in the Fifth Corps area, to participate in the "Civilian Plattsburgh" which will be revived. Plattsburg training camp for civilians was a big feature of America's war plans during the World war.

Definite plans for recruiting air corps trainees will be worked out by Gardner and his staff in the near future.

Fate of Allied 'Lost Million' Army at Stake

Hitler Forces Attempt to Pinch off Enemy in Bottleneck Near Lille; Bloody Battle Continues in Historic Flanders Fields

(By Associated Press)

German and Allied armies thrashed like giant pythons, each seeking a strangle-hold, in the bloody battle of Flanders today.

Germany hurled great masses of men and materials into a renewed onslaught in the Valenciennes sector, forcing hard-pressed French troops to withdraw to new positions west of the Scheldt river.

The French high command, admitting the setback said however that the situation was "not unfavorable."

Seeking a quick knockout, the Germans threw wave after wave of tank-led infantry into a furious attack in the Lens-Ypres sector in the north.

The Nazi high command said a deep breach had been cut in the Allied lines and that counter-attacking French colonial troops had been thrown back with "bloody losses" northeast of Lens.

German warplanes and swift-striking torpedo boats quickened the tempo of the Nazi drive for control of the channel.

The waterfront at Dunkerque, north of Calais, was reported in flames after German bombing attacks.

Both sides appeared to be flinging all available troops, tanks, planes and guns into the great battle in Flanders.

In one major phase of the struggle, Generalissimo Maxime Weygand's forces sought to break through the German salient to the channel at its 18-mile-wide bottleneck in the Bapaume-Peronne area.

If successful, the vital line of communications feeding the German columns along the channel would be broken, the Nazi spearhead columns isolated.

LONDON—(INS)—British government quarters today steadfastly denied German claims that Nazi forces have captured the French channel port of Calais, only 22 miles from the British port of Dover. (Editor's note: French government authorities likewise denied that Calais had fallen.)

In the second phase, Hitler's armored troops were flailing hard to pinch off the Allied salient in the north between Lille, France, and Courtrai, Belgium, at a similarly narrow bottleneck.

If successful, the Germans in turn would isolate Allied forces which are seeking to cut off the Nazis.

Amid this complicated action, terrific German attacks which were described by the French as launched "without regard to losses" threw back Allied troops to new defense positions in the Belgian Lys river calley and spiked through almost to the World war battlefield of Ypres.

The new onslaughts were aimed at separating French, British and Belgian armies—estimated at between 500,000 and 1,000,000 strong—already encircled by the Nazi pincer movement.

To the south, along the Aisne-Meuse river sector, the French reported that their 75's (3-inch guns) were taking a tremendous toll as German infantry battered in vain to break the Allied lines.

SPEED: Senate Tries to Wind Up Legislation in Two Weeks

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Senate leaders put together a fast legislative timetable today in an effort to wind up the session in two weeks, but Democratic house managers expressed doubt that congress could adjourn before June 15.

Both chambers were hastening action on defense measures, but the $1,111,754,916 relief bill and various odds and ends still remained to be acted on.

Potential time-consuming arguments centered in a senate effort to bring up the Logan-Walter bill to subject administrative rulings to court review and house demands for action on Wagner act amendments.

It generally was considered unlikely that the house would take up senate-approved amendments to broaden the Hatch anti-politics law, and there was little congressional sentiment for acting at this session on financing for the big new defense program.

Some leaders forecast, however, that the administration might ask an immediate increase in the $45,000,000,000 federal debt limit. There was no possibility, they asserted, that congress would be called on to enact new taxes before 1941.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, said that he saw "no good reason why congress can't get out in two weeks."

He proposed that the senate meet longer hours each day if it would insure adjournment by June 8.

Barkley said that the senate would act this week on measures authorizing an 11 per cent increase in the fleet and putting a limit of 10,000 planes on the navy's air force.

The house-approved relief bill was being considered today by a senate appropriations subcommittee, and Chairman Adams (D-Colo) predicted that it would go to the floor by mid-week without substantial change. It would refuse WPA aid to Communists or members of "Nazi Bund" organizations.

The house arranged today to return to the senate legislation terminating the treasury's foreign silver purchase program. House leaders contended that the senate exceed its constitutional authority in passing the measure.

Also ticketed for house approval today was a resolution to place in effect in 10 days President Roosevelt's transfer of the immigration service from the labor to the justice department.

UNION VICTOR

Supreme Court Holds Labor Not Liable for Loss.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The supreme court ruled today that a labor union was not liable under the federal anti-trust laws for damages resulting from a sit-down strike.

The 6 to 3 decision was delivered by Justice Stone.

Chief Justice Hughes wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justices McReynolds and Roberts joined.

Stone asserted that the activities of the labor union involved in the litigation did not sufficiently interfere with interstate commerce to constitute a violation of the Sherman act.

The far-reaching opinion sustained the contentions of labor organizations for many years that they were not subject ordinarily to the law.

IMPACT OF WAR HITS EXPORTS

Flight of European Money to America Reported to Be Increasing.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The impact of war developments on American business was shown today in a commerce department report that exports declined $27,000,000 in April, with the heaviest decrease in Scandinavian and Dutch trade.

Flight of capital from threatened European countries was reflected in a treasury announcement that during February—for the first time in ten months — foreign investors bought more American securities than they sold. They increased their holdings by $3,879,000.

Shipments from the United States to the Scandinavian nations fell from more than $19,000,000 in March to less than $4,000,000 in April.

Murder Inc. Pair Sentenced to Die In Electric Chair

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Harry (Happy) Maione and Frank (The Dasher) Abbandando, the first members of Murder, Inc., to be brought on trial and convicted, today were sentenced to be electrocuted during the week of July 7.

Maione and Abbandando, both 30, were found guilty by a jury May 23 of the murder of George Rudnick who, they believed, had turned informer on them.

Their conviction and sentence to the death penalty were the first results of Brooklyn District Attorney William O'Dwyer's drive to break up the gang which made a business of murdering for profit.

Sentence was imposed by Judge Franklin Taylor who presided at the trial.

SENTENCED TO DIE

PARIS—(AP)—Four Paris factory workers, two of them 18-year old youths, were sentenced to death today by a military court on sabotage charges. Two others drew 20 years at hard labor.

Expect Census Re-Check to Put City Closer to 40,000

With preliminary figures on the 16th decennial census, released Saturday by Don Harper, district census director at Mt. Vernon setting Mansfield's population at 36,895, John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce today expressed confidence that the final audit will show the population count closer to the 40,000 mark.

Routzon said the chamber had expected a preliminary count of about 37,000.

"We are not disappointed in the preliminary check-up," he said, "for we feel confident that when all noses are counted it will show Mansfield's population to be around the 40,000 mark."

The figures released Saturday by Harper showed an increase in the city population of 3,370 persons in the last decade, considerably less than unofficial estimates.

The unofficial count revealed an increase of little more than 10 per cent during the past 10 years as compared with a 20 per cent gain shown during the decade between 1920 and 1930.

A coupon for use of persons who were missed by census enumerators will be found on Page 2 of today's News-Journal.

Harper also expressed the opinion that the preliminary figure would be boosted when the final audit is complete and "mopping-up" finished by enumerators.

NO HEAT YET

More Rain Due to Keep May Temperatures Down.

There was little hope today of Mansfield getting any warm weather during the next two days. The forecast for tonight and tomorrow was "partly cloudy with occasional light showers in the central and north portions, and little change in temperature."

The temperature at noon today was reported at 58, nine degrees under Sunday's high of 67. Today's low was recorded at 50 while Sunday's low temperature was 51.

The average week-end temperature was 58.3, while the temperature for the same period 15 years ago was 61.2. Sunday's rainfall measured .27 of an inch.

Scotland Yard Rounds up 1,500 Women Enemy Aliens

LONDON — (INS) — In a lightning drive, a thousand Scotland Yard detectives rounded up 1,500 women enemy aliens today, gave them only time to pack their bags and trucked them off to concentration camps—all within a few hours.

The 1,500 arrests were confined to London alone as police throughout the country rounded up hundreds more for internment for the duration of the war.

Although it was the largest single raid of the day, other police trailed many well known figures who have been implicated, authorities indicated, by documents found in a police raid on the home of Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader.

Sensational arrests were promised later in the week as a result of the documents.

Arrests of the women created havoc at breakfast-hour in many fashionable sections where great numbers of the German women were employed as domestics. So quickly were the aliens carted off that many a sleepy Londoner rang in vain for breakfast, only to get up and find that the maid had disappeared.

The Isle of Man will serve as a huge camp for all German and Austrian aliens in the class B category between the ages of 16 and 60. They will be transferred as soon as preparations are complete at the new camp, it was announced.

A total of 3,300 women in this class have been rounded up throughout the country, it was officially announced.

Ickes Hits Spies, Traitors Spreading Hate Plague

SAYS U.S. WILL NOT TOLERATE FIFTH COLUMN

Underprivileged Must Feel Country's 'Worth Dying For,' He Declares.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — There is no doubt "traitors are within" the United States and "spies and propagandists, like rats, are carrying the plague of hate," says Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Also "there can be no national unity unless our underprivileged can feel this is a country worth dying for."

Ickes made these declarations on the same Jewish temple forum last night where he touched off a diplomatic exchange with Nazi Germany 18 months ago by criticizing Adolph Hitler as "a brutal dictator x x x robbing and torturing thousands."

American will tolerate no "fifth column" whether Nazi, Fascist or Communist, the secretary said, but civil liberties must be protected.

He used the Biblical character of Esau, who sold his birthright for food, in describing "fifth column" activities.

"It was only on May 17," Ickes said, "that one of our outstanding business leaders offered as his solution for meeting the terrible tax burden, a lightening of taxes on that small group which owns and controls billions (of dollars) of distributed and undistributed profits.

"In God's name who are to pay the taxes to give us national unity and defense, if not those who have the means? It is tragically appalling to hear those who have more than enough complain about their burden.

"We Americans have two imperative concerns — national defense and national unity. We must perfect both to impregnability if we would save our liberties."

Prisoners Stage Minor Riot, Set Mattress Ablaze

NEWPORT, Ky. — (U.P.) — Ten prisoners who broke windows, burned a mattress and flooded the Newport jail were to face charges of malicious destruction of property today in municipal police court.

Jail authorities said the inmates broke legs from their bunks and hurled the legs through windows. After clogging a drain, they turned on a faucet and flooded the third floor cell blocks.

The prisoners refused to disclose their reason for the sudden violence. Police Chief Leo Livingston ordered all privileges taken away from the inmates.

CLINIC SET

School Beginners to Be Given Health Tests Wednesday.

A pre-school clinic for children who will enter Mansfield and township schools throughout the county for the first time this fall will be held Wednesday afternoon Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner announced today.

Dr. Rehder said the pre-school examinations would be held at the health department in the city building for children whose parents were unable to bring them to clinics held throughout the city and county the past several weeks.

The examinations are held to detect defects in child health. Recommendations are made to the parents in order that correction can be made before the child enters school next fall. Dr. Rehder said that a total of 360 children from Mansfield and the county have already been examined at the clinics.

Up and Down THE STREET

Edward Smith, one of the 10 students enrolled in the Civil Aeronautic Authority's civilian pilot training course at the municipal airport experienced his first flight in the air yesterday but it wasn't until "Bud" Harrington, the government's instructor got him aloft for instruction that this was discovered. Noticing Smith's curiosity concerning the handling of the taining ship, Harrington asked if the student had ever been up before. He received a negative reply with the statement: "I was a little afraid to tell you about it."

J. O. Hanley, milling company executive, is chuckling over a 20-year-old newspaper item he ran across last week in a Coshocton paper. It told of a drop of 20 cents a bushel in the price of wheat, which was pretty bad, but that isn't what causes the Hanley chuckle. You see, even after the 20-cent drop, wheat was selling at about this time 20 years ago for $2.80 a bushel, whereas the current price is just 84 cents.

The deer are on the loose again in the "wilds" of Richland county and a pair of them romped over the E. S. Nail farm two miles north of Mansfield Sunday. They were sighted by Mrs. Arthur Statler, who resides on the farm, at 6:30 p. m. They came from the south and ran across the farm, apparently without fear. Fences offered no barriers for they skimmed over seven farm fences as though they weren't there. A number of persons have seen deer in the county in the past year and there probably are several of them that have wandered away from the mountain forests of Pennsylvania.

MOTHER, 39, DIES

Mrs. Heitzman Stricken at Galion Hospital.

GALION — Mrs. May Belle Heitzman, 39, wife of F. W. Heitzman, Galion funeral director, died unexpectedly in Good Samaritan hospital early today. She had given birth to a son last Thursday.

A native of Galion, Mrs. Heitzman is survived by her husband, two daughters, Dorothy Mae and Janet, and her infant son, John Frederick; a sister, Mrs. Hazel Kyle, Galion; a brother, Elmer Rowe, Jeromesville, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rowe, Galion.

She was a member of the First Reformed church, the Eastern Stars, of which she was a past matron, and the Pythian Sisters.

The body will be at the Snyder funeral home through Tuesday evening. Services will be held at the family home at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. R. R. Elliker officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

RABBI WARNS OF TRAITORS IN MEMORIAL SUNDAY ADDRESS HERE

Warning the people of the United States that traitors within were organized and all ready to strike at the opportune hour against the government and to set up their own rule, Rabbi Charles B. Latz, of Canton yesterday delivered a stirring Memorial Sunday address at the Madison theater.

More than 700 persons attended the services which were sponsored by the Jewish congregations of the city. Rabbi D. Rub, Mansfield, assisted in the ceremonies.

Rabbi Latz, one of the ablest speakers heard in Mansfield in years, recounted the sacrifices which have been made over the centuries to secure human rights and liberties.

"Securing them is not the end," he warned his audience. "It is only the beginning and we must be eternally on guard to maintain them."

Characterizing the totalitarian dictators as "gangsters on the loose," he said they constituted a menace against human rights throughout the world. The danger he said, was not a theoretical one across the world, but was a very real one within our midst now.

While pointing out that if Germany takes the British navy it would be a constant threat to all countries of the Western hemisphere, he expressed the belief that our greatest enemy is within our own borders now, organized as the "fifth column" and ready to strike when the signal comes.

The subject of his address was "The Great Silence." He said that there were no words in the human language to pay proper tribute to men who lay down their lives that liberty and individual rights might live, and that only a "great silence" could properly express that tribute and gratitude.

The audience included veterans of the Spanish - American and World war and members of auxiliary and patriotic organizations in the city. Many veterans were in uniform.

Music was provided by the Temple Emmanuel quartet, made up of Leo Hans, Herman Clingan, Mrs. Charles Anglin and Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine. Liturgical and national hymns were sung, both by the quartet and the audience.

The stage of the theater had been converted into an altar, with palms and flowers, cathedral chairs, a pulpit and the seven-branch candles of the Jewish faith. On the stage were the national emblem and the banners of McVey Post, American Legion, McLaughlin Post, G. A. R., and the Veterans of Foreign wars. The banner of Mansfield's old G. A. R. post was escorted to the stage by veterans of the Spanish-American war.

Memorial Sunday services in Mansfield have been held in various churches of the city, both Protestant and Catholic. This was the first time the Jewish congregations had been in charge of it.

PARTY LEADERS STUDY EFFECT ON VOTE TOTAL

Pension Plan Advocate Says Broadcasting Companies Hold Key to Action.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Herbert S. Bigelow's announcement that he might run for governor as an independent gave the Democratic and Republican candidates for that office something to think about today.

"I will probably be a candidate unless the broadcasting companies change their rules to permit discussion of my pension plan over the air," he said.

The Cincinnati clergyman-politician sought the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator in the May 14 primary merely to advertise his program of bigger old age pensions.

Organization politicians concede him a slim chance of winning the governorship, but would like to known from which of the major candidates he would take the most votes.

Whom would be hurt most: Gov. John W. Bricker, the Republican nominee, or Martin L. Davey, the Democratic candidate?

His proposition of a guaranteed income at 60 years of age, defeated in 1939, drew 400,000 votes and in the Democratic senatorial race he received 169,331 votes, as against Nominee John McSweeney's 270,265.

Democratic leaders were ready to begin analyzing the possible effect of a Bigelow candidacy right away, for they were meeting here today to select a campaign general for the November election campaign.

J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland, former speaker of the house of representatives, was almost certain to become the new state executive committee chairman, succeeding Arthur L. Limbach of New Philadelphia. He is Davey's choice and reportedly has approval of the majority of the newly elected state central committee, which must make the selection.

Albert A. Horstman of Dayton, informed sources said, would be elected chairman of the central committee, succeeding Earl H. Hanefeld of Ottowa.

The Republican candidates for state office held a five-hour conference with Governor Bricker last night and discusssed a proposal to separate the national and state tickets on the November ballot.

No decision was reached, and the governor said another meeting would be held in a week or 10 days.

Lieut. Gov. Paul H. Herbert, who made a survey of Republican members of the legislature, said a majority favored the ballot-splitting idea.

STRICKEN AT 78

Fred C. Schroeder Had Been In Ill Health a Year.

In ill health for a year, Fred C. Schroeder, 78, died at his home, 167 East Third street, Sunday morning. He had been a resident of Mansfield for 48 years, and was a retired employe of the Humphryes Manufacturing company.

Mr. Schroeder, born near Decatur, Ind., March 8, 1862, leaves a widow, Mary; four daughters, Mrs. Amelia Gottfried and Mrs. Harry B. Conner of Mansfield, Mrs. Marie Princehorn of Oberlin, and Mrs. G. E. Wieseke of Elyria; two sons, A. C. Schroeder and John M., the latter city editor of The News-Journal; two sisters, Mrs. Louise Baady of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Fred Schuler, near Decatur, Ind.; one brother, William, of Ft. Wayne, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Wappner funeral home. Rev. Paul H. Saleste, of St. John's Evangelical church, of which Mr. Schroeder was a member, will officiate. Burial will be in Memorial park.

FORMER PASTOR TAKEN BY DEATH

Rev. Charles Oakley Stricken at Home in Winona Lake.

Rev. Charles R. Oakley, who was pastor of the First Christian church here for six years from 1909 to 1915, died last evening in Winona Lake, Ind., word received today said.

Rev. Oakley, prominent in ministerial circles during his pastorate here, went to Portsmouth from Mansfield.

For the past four years, however, he had been in ill health at his home in Winona Lake. He was about 60.

Funeral services are to be held there at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking for Myself.

I've noticed recently a trend toward Latin beaux among the prettier, best circulated, and most frequently braceleted playgirls around the Broadway spots. Models, debutantes and showgirls—those reliable barometers of what is fashionable, desirable, or profitable in the way of men—are turning up consistently in the bistros with Argentinians, and Brazilians. These are lads who speak quietly and with accents, pay extravagant compliments as well as champagne checks, stay up late, and never really get into high gear until the band plays a conga.

I wonder what Mae Murray and Gloria Swanson think about Hedy LaMarr—and don't tell me they don't think about her. . . . Doubletalk still tickles me, and now and then I still get caught by it. . . . I haven't glimpsed one top hat at the fair this year.

I love to listen to the bald-headed row sighing when Betty Grable elevates her hoop skirt in "DuBarry." . . . Those open-back taxicabs make a lot of intoxicated gentlemen think they're Lindbergh riding up Broadway—it's so funny to see them standing up taking bows.

* * *

Carole Lombard's name for Charles Laughton is the only one that I think really fits him. She calls him "Buster." . . . I am a girl who likes night clubs with an "intime" atmosphere, but when they get so "intime" they never open a window, and you can't see the entertainment for the smoke, and when you put your elbow down it rests on somebody else's table, I begin to wonder whether it is worth my while to sit around such boites without a small tank of oxygen, a respirator, or a gas mask.

I am waiting for some enterpreneur to frankly advertise this submarine atmosphere, and open a spot called "Club Lethal Chamber." . . .

What the movies did to "My Son, My Son," that wonderful, touching novel, was homicide in Celluloid. . . . I've never seen a press agent who looked—or talked—like Pat O'Brien.

* * *

I've never seen Helen Hayes, Gertrude Lawrence or Katharine Cornell stop under the marquee of a theater where they were playing and look up to see the name in lights. But it must have been a dream for them once. . . . I like night club ice shows, but they all look alike.

Josephine Houston, the young girl who opens in "Russian Bank" tonight, is what those soap ads mean when they say "schoolgirl complexion." . . . I hear the current season's visitors to the World's fair midway are spenders, not strollers. . . .

That Alice Faye! I caught her buying 30 pairs of shoes the other day. She must be going on a cross-country hike.

* * *

I wonder what it is on a girl's mind that makes her become a champion at shot-putting or high jumping. . . . Now and then someone in show business does something really heart-warming. When "Too Many Girls" closed, George Marion, jr., its author, wrote out his personal check to cover bonuses for all the chorus boys and girls. . . . Those wedge-sole shoes have one advantage over the spike heel kind: you can skip over sidewalk gratings without falling on your face.

* * *

Out-of-towners aren't the people who gape up at skyscrapers. They're the ones who are always asking you where subway entrances are. . . . I think when this generation is old it will still be hearing bands play "Night and Day," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "All the Things You Are," "Stardust," "Dancing in the Dark" and "Begin the Beguine." . . . Joseph, at Theodore's, is a head waiter right out of an Irene Dunne flicker.

I can't hold out any longer; the Gay Blades is opening, everybody from Helen Hayes to Irving Berlin is skating in Rockefeller Plaza—and I'm going to get a pair of roller skates.

* * *

Sixth avenue is getting actually pretty, with those trees budding in front of the Music Hall. . . . Nothing bores me more than people with mottos of the do-or-die variety on this desks. . . .

Are there really more Brooklyn Dodger fans than the Yankees and Giants have put together, or do they just get around more and make more noise?

Al Siegel's act, with his new discovery, Joan Merrill, made me wish he could get together a program of his other proteges—Ethel Merman, Bee Palmer, Lilliam Carmen, Beverly Roberts, and Grace Moore whom he taught to sing "Minnie the Moocher."

* * *

I like Frank Case's gesture of giving the Critics Circle a permanent club room at the Algonquin. Maybe the boys will put stuffed heads around the walls—not moose, or deer, but actors, producers and playwrights that the boys have "bagged."

The other night some of the newspapermen sitting in the Stork club were talking about big stories of all time, and of course the Hauptmann trial came up. That trial rigged the headlines for many months.

But when I think of it, I think of Annie Hauptmann with her lifeless hair telling me how her baby cuddled up to her late at night. I think of the reporters singing "Mother Machree" in the hotel bar and of Damon Runyon applauding newsreel shots of Miami in the little Flemington, N. J. movie mansion. I think of the bell in the tower of the old court house banging and swinging and making the wood floor tremble, and of the green luminous dusk the photographers' flares made.

I think of the deep quiet snow and the fog seeping in from the Sourlands and the telegraph keys gossiping in the lobby of the Grand hotel. That was a story to remember.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Waterloo Bridge." Screenplay by S. N. Behrman, Hans Rameau and George Froeschel, from play by Robert E. Sherwood. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Principals: Vivien Leigh, Robert Taylor, Lucille Watson, Virginia Field, Maria Ouspenskaya, C. Aubrey Smith.

* * *

With several pre-Scarlett movies on the screen now, Miss Leigh offers in "Waterloo Bridge" a new characterization to save her from the stamp of "one-picture" stardom. There is nothing of Scarlett, though more than a tinge of scarlet, in her role of a sweet girl buffeted by war's cruelties. And she brings appeal and dramatic conviction to the assignment.

Besides proving again that the academy award winner really can act, the picture has other news in Taylor—his most mature, best-handled part to date. Even without the jaunty moustache he sports, he would have managed, acting as he does here, to be taken seriously.

Myra (Leigh) is a ballet dancer; Roy (Taylor), a young army officer about to leave for the front in World war I. They meet in a bomb shelter, plan to marry, but are thwarted by a legal technicality. Having lost her job, Myra with her friend Kitty (Field) is unable to survive in war-disrupted London; waiting to meet Roy's mother (Watson), she reads his death notice in a newspaper; shock and the effort to conceal the news cause her to behave so rudely as to estrange the mother, from whom she might have expected help.

When desperate Kitty and Myra have taken what they (with Hays' office sanction) insist is not "the easiest way," Roy returns. Keeping her secret against her better judgment, Myra consents to marry him, goes with him to his country home. There she is confronted by so many evidences of his high family standards that she confesses to the mother and insists upon fleeing. By the time Roy has learned the truth and is off in eager pursuit, Myra has come to the end which in the movies is always destined for her type, regardless of extenuating circumstances.

It is a tragic tale, slow in getting under way, but interesting and moving for its performances and central situation.

Informally Speaking...

May 27, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

YESTERDAY was indeed a fine day for golf, and I do believe that all the enthusiasts of the sport in the city were out playing the game. . . . Fortunately enough, I played before noon, so that I didn't have to play between showers, as did those who went out in the afternoon. . . . It's none to warm in these parts yet, so I guess we still have summer to look forward to here—how about you?

* * * * *

Marianne

Graduates always share honors with brides in June, and so much of the news I have for you today, Lucy, is about students from our vicinity who are preparing for graduation next month. . . . There are three Mansfielders among the 415 candidates for degrees and diplomas at the 136th annual Ohio university commencement on June 3 . . . Richard Nye, son of Mr and Mrs. C P Nye, and R. Clifton Scouten son of Mr. and Mrs M Vale Scouten, will be given the degree of Bachelor of Science in commerce—while Marie Loesch whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Loesch, is working toward a Bachelor of Science in education.

* * * * *

Helen Patton (daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Patton of Ashland) will be graduated from Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., tomorrow, when Dr. James Rowland Angell, former president of Yale university, will award the degrees. . . . Features of this graduation week will be the traditional Ivy Fete, a round of parties and breakfasts for the 651 graduates, and a performance of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Patience," under the personal direction of Maude Adams.

* * * * *

AND before we leave this talk of college students, I mustn't forget to tell you about Helen Sturgeon, who's a sophomore in the college of education at Bowling Green State university . . . By student vote, she's been elected to the Student Council for the next school year. . . . A graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, Helen also is active in the Seven Sister sorority and the Y. W C A. . . . Her parents are Mr and Mrs. Vernon A Sturgeon.

* * * * *

Two lucky people are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Beverstock, who left recently for a six-weeks' cruise to South America. . . . They took in the World fair before sailing from New York City, and their trip will take them to many of the interesting South American ports.

* * * * *

THIS past week-end was a pleasant one for Ann Menrath and Kathryn Pfeifer, as they went to Joliet, Ill., where they attended Homecoming week-end at the College of St Francis . . . This was the diamond jubilee at the school, from which both girls were graduated. . . . They went to Joliet on Friday and are returning today . . . Ann, you know, is a nurse at the Mansfield General hospital, and Kathryn is employed at the Westinghouse now

* * * * *

DR. E. AMBROSE HART who has been the recent house guest of Mr and Mrs. A. T Alexander, returned to his home in New York City this past week-end . . . And from the look of things that's all the news for today Lucy. . . . Have a happy holiday this Thursday, and let me hear from you soon.

Lovingly

Marianne

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES FOR SHELBY HIGH GRADUATES HELD

SHELBY — The second of the series of activities for the graduating class at Shelby high school was the annual baccalaureate service held Sunday night at the school auditorium.

Starting the closing program at the school was the annual Junior-Senior prom last week.

Rev. Michael McFadden of Most Pure Heart of Mary Catholic church preached the sermon. Rev. McFadden, who was selected by a student committee from senior class that were representative of the Shelby churches, is the first Catholic priest to speak at the baccalaureate services here.

The service opened with the invocation said by Rev. D. Bruce Young of First Lutheran church The prayer was given by Rev. J C. Searle, pastor of United Brethren church, following the processional of the senior students to special seats in the auditorium. The scripture reading by Rev. Arthur Staples of First Methodist church preceded the sermon. The service closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. A. B. Allison, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

Special music was sung by the 65-voice A Capella choir of the high school directed by Music Supervisor W. E. Conger. Selections sung by this group included "Praise the Lord" and "My God and I."

Other closing activities this week are the class night program Wednesday night and the 65th commencement exercises for the class of 1940 to be held Friday night. Both programs will be held at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

This year 95 seniors are graduating. The list includes 58 boys and 37 girls, school officials said

Marriage Doesn't Change Much

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A letter in this morning's mail is from a man who says he's very much in love with his fiancee, but hopes to change certain things about her, after they are "comfortably married."

Is any marriage likely to be comfortable where one of the parties is reconditioning the other? It is much safer to get what you want beforehand than to attempt the making-over process afterwards. Making over, matrimonially speaking, is improbable, these days, unless you choose something spineless.

Much of the friction in married life is due to the fact that women have changed in their attitude toward marriage while men remain stand-patters. It was the woman's influence that dropped the word "obey" from the ceremony. Although a man may agree to drop a word his bride found obnoxious, he still expects the woman he marries to look up to him as an oracle and quote him to her women friends.

The highly educated college woman or the successful professional or business woman is not going to quote her husband to other women. She may even think the fact that they differ on questions and can discuss them like civilized human beings is highly stimulating.

It would be revealing to know actually how men regard wives who can hold their own in discussions. It's still the exceptional man who wants his wife to be his mental equal.

In spite of dropping the word "obey" from the marriage ceremony and making up their own minds in advance about things, and never quoting "my husband says," the modern woman is no different from her great-grandmother in what she wants in marriage.

She wants affection—loads and loads of affection; she wants appreciation, compliments, to be told how charming she is, and that she doesn't look a day older than when they were married. She wants freedom and companionship.

Say what you will, marriage is the only solution for human nature in its present state of development, for founding homes and rearing children. There are bound to be wrecks, just as there are wrecks with automobiles. Still it would be as absurd to advocate abolishing their manufacture as it is to offer sordid solutions other than marriage.

Expenses Often Unnecessary

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph. D.

Too often graduation, especially from high school, proves a heavy burden to the parents. If, for example, a certain kind of suit or dress is prescribed for all graduates at commencement, some parents can hardly find the money, or will have to do so at excessive sacrifice. Wisely, some school principals see to it that clothes for graduation must be simple and inexpensive.

Much may be said in favor of the classic gown, which can be rented. Even then some families can't afford the cost, and there should be a school fund for indigent youths to tap without their classmates knowing they must be helped in this manner.

Undue pressure is often brought upon parents to pay also for such things as class books, class pin, or class ring. While the purchase of these luxuries is rarely required, those children who don't get them may endure deep humiliation. Too often the pressure from the group led by children of the more privileged parents, under the guise of class loyalty and school patriotism is so great that parents are forced against their will to make the sacrifice. Sometimes the ensuing parent-child conflict is tragic.

Before and after graduation hundreds and hundreds of youths in this country and their parents, will be approached by high pressure salesmen of correspondence courses. A few of these courses may be good; others won't.

Sinister are some of the rackets. For example, a graduate may be told that because he ranked so high in his class, or was so faithful a student, that he is being given a scholarship. He will have to pay only for the books to be used (valued at from $50 to $250). See the appeal to vanity! Thus his parents may be signed up for an obligation for several hundred dollars, some paid at once, the rest in monthly installments. What is paid for the books may be many times what they are worth.

The high pressure salesman or agent insists on an immediate "sign here." Often these propositions prove to be wholly worthless. Sometimes the agent represents a nearby "business school," selling a course to be paid for in advance. Reputable schools don't do this. Wise parents and students won't be lured into such a net.

Let no one be deceived. Pay nothing, sign nothing until after you have carefully investigated. There is no hurry. You have lots of time. First try to get in touch with your school principal. Failing to find him, write a letter of enquiry to the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C. Technical fields being exploited are already overcrowded, and a vacancy in either field is not likely to be filled by a person taking a short course even at a school when there are available many engineers who have spent years and years at training.

In case you would like to have a selected list of books on vocation, write me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Mary's inherent histrionism had come to her rescue in this moment of release from the dread of the weeks since she had begun to study the leading role in my play. I knew that she had been astounded as I at her father-in-law's mandate that she discard the rendition in which he had drilled her, and give instead the version on which I had worked with her. But the overweaning joy with which she must have hailed her chance to prove her right to the leading role, and the unutterable relief with which she must have seen vanish the vision of herself reciting the stilted, lifeless words upon which her father-in-law had insisted, were the most effective tonics possible. And as I saw her throw up her head and make her first entrance in the manner I had taught her, with no words of comment upon her father-in-law's decision, my heart thrilled not only with unutterable thankfulness for her release from poignant mental suffering, but with pride in her poise, and in the way she was handling her difficult role.

We had agreed that she was to begin her role in a quiet minor key, and gradually sweep up to the heights which the climax demanded. I watched her only until I saw that she was entirely at ease, and that nothing now could disturb her or make her falter in her stride. Then, after the swift exchange of a wondering glance with Lillian, who, I saw, was as mystified as I was, I turned my eyes on Philip Veritzen's face, intending to study it, but averted them quickly when I saw him looking at me with the gloating amused expression of one who just has perpetrated a gigantic jest, and who has worsted an adversary in a contest of wits.

From that latter standpoint, he was entitled to gloat, I told myself. How he had found out our carefully guarded secret, I had no idea, but discover it, he certainly had, and if I had not been so vitally concerned with what ultimate use he intended to make of his discovery, I should have felt a keen personal humiliation in his triumph.

But I was too deeply concerned over Mary's fortunes to spend a single minute in conjectures as to the manner in which Philip Veritzen had outwitted us. My mind was swirling with other questions, born of this sudden switch in his plan.

Had he experienced a change of heart—or might we have been mistaken in his malevolent purpose? I did not put much faith in the second theory, but I knew that I must consider it. But on the other side of the scales I piled his "playing up" of Olina's triumph, his determination to bring Noel into the rehearsal, something which he must have known would upset Mary completely, and his waiting until the very moment of Mary's entrance to announce his change of plan, the transition from a hell of humiliation to a heaven of possible triumph, a confrontation calculated to send a sensitive, highly wrought girl into a swoon or a nervous collapse.

Was that what he had counted on, I wondered? His switch of plan evidently had been made to show us that we had not deceived him as we had thought, but what had been his expectation of Mary's reaction to his announcement?

HOW TO MAKE YOUR ROSES RAINPROOF

There are certain things which should be done before and after a storm to make roses "rainproof." When rain clouds threaten the rose grower should get out the spray gun and cover the rose foliage with a fungicide. This dusting is to prevent black-spot, the dread disease of roses, which frequently makes its appearance after the plants have subjected to rain or heavy sprinkling. It is for this reason that roses should never be watered unless first protected against black-spot.

If buds of certain roses are subjected to heavy rainfall, it may be necessary to open them by hand, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. This is apt to be the case with the buds of Francis Scott Key, Schwabenland, and similar roses which have usually large double blooms. The buds of such roses frequently stick together upon being rained upon and thus fail to open, whereupon they rot and fall off without having actually "bloomed." If the stuck outer petals of the buds are gently separated with the fingers, as illustrated, the blooms will open as usual.

Rose beds should always be cultivated after a rain, unless they have been protected in June with a mulch at least one inch thick.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, May 28.

Fairly fortunate and active conditions are predicted on the basis of planetary and lunar operations. The mind will be seriously focused on the development and promotion of new ideas, with practical and constructive projects for enlisting the financial support of employers, superiors or those whose friendly cooperation is urgent. These will be found approachable, but do not negative business interest by stressing social angles, which are under adverse configurations. Anxiety and depression should be vanquished.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a rather fortunate year, in which their own skill, initiative and enterprise will find hearty support for putting over new and fairly important projects. The mental forces and creative ability may be deeply concentrated on developing very constructive ideas, and the support of those in influence for promotion will be available. But it would be wise to refrain from overdoing the social contact slant, as such is adversely aspected. Refrain from depression, worry and cross-purposes.

A child born on this day may be talented and ambitious, having studious mind and much constructive ability, which should be encouraged by influential persons

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

EARLY INFORMATION

There are two great advantages in the new Barclay convention for slam bidding. Since it makes possible the exchange of a great deal of information at low levels, it enables you to sign off lower than when using some other conventions and also gives you a chance to exchange still more information when you proceed to high levels. This is because the ace-asking bid is not the 4-No Trumps to which many have become used, but the very lowest possible bid with no natural meaning after the side has indicated the declaration it prefers.

Dealer	1 ♠	3 ♣	3 NT	7 NT
Partner	2 ♠	3 ♥	4 ♠

Granting that the partners do not voluntarily raise an original major suit without at least four cards, the 2-Spades establishes a declaration for the side. Since 2-No Trumps then by dealer might indicate an alternative possible declaration with stoppers in all suits, 3-Clubs is the slam call. Partner would show no ace with 3-Diamonds, so his 3-Hearts discloses one. Notice that Dealer now could sign off at 3-Spades. Since he didn't bid 2-No Trumps on his second turn, the 3-No Trumps is not a genuine bid, but his asker about kings. Partner's 4-Clubs would show none, 4-Diamonds one, 4-Hearts two and 4-Spades three, which he shows. Note that this is not a sign-off; only the asker can sign off. When partner has shown three kings and the missing ace, dealer goes to grand slam in No Trumps.

Dealer	1 ♠	3 ♣	3 NT	4 ♠
Partner	2 ♠	3 ♥	4 ♣

Here the partner has shown no kings at all, so dealer signs off at game, instead of being crowded to five, as would be the case with some conventions, even without kings being explored.

Dealer	1 ♠	3 ♣	4 ♠
Partner	2 ♠	3 ♦

In this case, with partner showing no aces, declarer could sign off at three if he wishes, but has enough strength to try for game.

Dealer	1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥	3 ♣	4 ♦
Partner	1 ♠	2 ♦	2 NT	3 ♥

With diamonds agreed upon, 2-Hearts cannot possibly be natural, as that would have been bid earlier; hence it is the asker. Partner shows one ace. Two kings are needed to justify even a game bid, so dealer quits below game.

Dealer	1 ♣	2 NT	4 ♣	5 ♣	6 NT
Partner	1 ♥	3 NT	4 ♠	5 ♥

Now the side agrees early on No Trumps. Two aces and one king from South show North enough to bid the small slam. North could even have asked about queens, if still thinking of grand slam, by bidding 5-Spades on his fifth turn.

Laurila, Hundemer Star as Mansfield Stops Oilers, 5-4

By CHARLES MARTIN

GEORGE LAURILA and Al Hundemer are firmly embedded in the minds of some 300 Mansfield baseball fans today as the Mansfield Braves made preparations to play host to Fremont under the arcs before a "Merchants' and Manufacturers'" crowd at the Fairground at 8:15 p. m.

* * *

These two youngsters sparked an attack at the Fairground park yesterday that enabled the Braves to edge Findlay, 5 to 4, and share third place with Tiffin in the Ohio State league championship race.

* * *

Laurila lank righthander, tossing most of his slants in the rain, successfully scattered 11 blows to register his first win in four starts, and Hundemer, rookie second baseman, who joined the club at Fremont Saturday night, collected a two-run double in the seventh that turned the tide for the Mansfielders.

There is considerable gloom hanging over the Braves' wigwam today. Tim Mangan, second string catcher, who has been seeing considerable service behind the plate, suffered a split finger in the sixth inning and the club physician said he would be out of the lineup for at least three weeks.

Lloyd "Deacon" Joyce is Manager Dewey Stover's selection to handle the mound assignment tonight. He will be seeking his second victory.

Mansfield was trailing by a 3 to 2 count when Hundemer went to bat in the seventh with two mates on the paths.

He picked out a curve and sent it against the fence in left field to send his teammates home, and a minute later scored what proved to be the winning run on Matt Miazga's sharp single to center.

Hundemer, an 18-year-old youngster who hails from Cincinnati has been impressive at bat and in the field and seems to have solved the Braves. second base problem.

Playing nearly two-thirds of the tussle in the rain, the Braves had trouble a couple of times in retrieving the ball, but recovered quick enough to save the contest.

Miazga had a difficult time in the slippery outfield and was charged with two errors. Both his miscues figured in the scoring.

The Braves felt pretty good over the triumph for it marked the first time in three games they have been able to beat Don May, the Oilers' southpaw.

A two-run splurge in the initial inning gave Mansfield an early lead but Findlay retaliated with single markers in the second, sixth and seventh to finally gain the advantage.

The Oilers' lead didn't last long when Hundemer and Miazga solved May's slants. Cannon cut Mansfield's lead to one run in the eighth when he clouted a home run over the left field fence.

It was the last time the second-place Oilers threatened. They managed to secure a single in the ninth, but Laurila, who fanned 10 and gave up two walks, quickly snuffed out the threat.

The affray yesterday got under way at 3 p. m., but the umpires called time in the first half of the second when it started raining. A half hour later the game was resumed, but it continued to rain until the last of the seventh.

Mansfield was held to seven hits by May, but came through with timely socks every time there were runners on the bases.

Tiffin defeated Fremont, 8 to 1, and 8 to 7, in a doubleheader yesterday. The Lima-Fostoria game was rained out.

Findlay plays at Lima and Fostoria goes to Tiffin in the other settos in the league tonight.

Steve Romadens, who came to Mansfield Saturday from Fargo-Moorhead, N. D. in the Northern league, will be Stover's choice to face the Mudhens at Tiffin Tuesday night. He is a righthander.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(U P)—When a major league team continues to lead league despite spotty pitching, poor hitting, and only ordinary fielding it is time to make an investigation, even though that team be Brooklyn, a club long noted for bizarre behavior.

* * *

So, such an inquiry was made by this observer of the baseball scene on yesterday and he is prepared to tell you why the Dodgers are on top in the National instead of some more gifted group of outdoor artisans. Here's the explanation, and in the pure, clear words of their manager, Leo Durocher:

* * *

"They're hustling like hell."

Durocher says that in all of his 15 years in baseball he has never seen a team with the spirit, the drive, the out and out hatred of defeat that the 1940 Dodgers have.

"I've played with some hustling fools in my time," Durocher told me, particularly that 1934 Gas House gang in St. Louis.

There isn't a man on the club that isn't giving me everything he's got and maybe a little bit more. None of that 'Well, we lost 4 to 1, but what the hell, I got three hits stuff. Look how we're winning 'em. We're seventh in hitting and the pitching has been uncertain. But the guys are pouring it on, and given just a little break make it count."

Leo used yesterday's game with the Phillies as an example

"We're shut out with one hit going into the ninth, and losing 1 to 0. But we tie it in the ninth and then Reese gets his first homer in the majors to win for us in the tenth. Those are good ones to win."

Was there any explanation for this remarkable spirit of the Dodgers?

"Yeah, a couple of reasons" Durocher explained. "In the first place everybody on the team happens to like everybody else. No arguing or fighting among the guys. And the president of the club has had a lot to do with it. The players know he's for 'em. I'll bet you that when Reese looks in his locker the next time there'll be an envelope with a hundrd bucks in it."

"Just a little present from McPhail for that winning homer. If it's not in his locker, he'll get a little extra dough the next pay day. Carelton got five hundred for that no-hitter, and other players have been rewarded for good work."

* * *

Durocher also gave the Brooklyn fans an assist in the rousing showing of the Dodgers this year.

* * *

"You can't beat the Brooklyn rooters It would take an Egyptian mummy not to respond to the kind of backing they give you."

Reds Face Pittsburgh, Happy Over Derringer

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— The Reds faced a double encounter with Pittsburgh in high spirits today over Paul Derringer's return to form with a one-hit 4-0 defeat of the Cardinals.

Jim Turner and Whitey Moore were called to face Fireman Mace Brown and Russell Bauers. The Reds still were trailing, a few percentage points behind Brooklyn in the league lead.

Derringer allowed Stu Martin to touch him for a single in the first inning but that was all. From that time on St. Louis batters went down for the count.

Derringer, who had lost four and won only three games this season, struck out seven men, walked only one.

The victory was fitting for the Reds' 1939 National league pennant raising ceremony, conducted prior to the game. Twenty-one old fans who saw the 1869 champion Reds participated, with Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis looking on.

Cincinnati counted two runs in the first inning, one in the fourth and one in the fifth, touching Morton Cooper for 11 hits before he was replaced in the eighth by Curt Davis.

Linksmen Hit Sub-Par Golf

Stout Turns in 68, Mayer 69 at Possum Run.

Rain and cold weather kept most of Mansfield's golfers in over the week-end, but that didn't keep Jim Stout and Joe Mayer from traveling the Possum Run course in sub-par style yesterday.

* * *

Stout turned in the lowest card of the day with a neat 68, four strokes under par, while Mayer paced off the same 18 holes in 69 strokes.

Although quite a few got out for a round early Sunday morning at Westbrook before the rain, no unusually good scores were turned in. Joe Kasper was low man yesterday at Coolridge with a 37.

Johnny Allen Expected to Fog Fast Ball Under The Arcs.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Indians' first night game of the season in the Cleveland stadium pits them against the Detroit Tigers tonight.

Johnny Allen, who plastered the Bengals with a three-hit defeat the last time he faced them, is due to fog his fast ball through the floodlight. Buck Newsom, another swifty, is his scheduled opponent.

* * *

The Indians climbed within half a game of first place by splitting a Sunday double header at St. Louis. The Browns took the first game 5 to 3 but the Tribe made the second one a 13-to 1 romp.

* * *

The first game's story was told in one half-inning, the fourth, when the Browns wrapped up all their runs. Mel Harder yielded only one fluke hit until this breakup.

The Indians ran up 11 hits off Emil Bildilli and Bob Harris but couldn't push runners home until the sixth and ninth innings.

The Browns threw the second game away in the first inning. Howard Mills issued two walks and a double and hit Hal Trosky on the elbow. John Niggeling then relieved Mills and let a run in on a wild throw. A bad throw by Lyn Lary let in two more for a total of five runs.

Al Milnar was an easy winner in giving seven hits.

Another Challenger Put Away

Hammering Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion, hooks a stinging left to the face of Ralph Zanelli, of Providence, R. I., in third round of their title bout at Boston. Ralph's pained expression attests the power behind the punch which took a lot of the fight out of the challenger. Armstrong won by a knockout in the fifth round.

Giants Soar Toward National Loop Roof

By SID FEDER

UP THERE in the place all good baseball souls go, the Old Man must be dancing a jig these spring afternoons as he looks down on his New York Giants.

* * *

For, Harry the Hoss Danning, last of the "McGraw men" to arrive, is a rip-snorting bronco now.

* * *

Not only is Harry head man in the Giants' sudden surge toward the National League roof—they were only 2½ games out after a 10-8 decision over the Boston Bees yesterday—but he's the complete answer to the dream the Old Man (of course it's John McGraw) always had of presenting to Pa Knickerbocker's folks a classy Jewish ball player.

Harry hasn't yet picked all the splinters out of the seat of his pants from riding the bench for four years waiting for Sweet William Terry, to give him the "break."

Catcher Danning now is leading the league in batting with a neat 394 and is out in front with 31 runs batted in. He has seven homers—two of them in yesterday's affair.

The only reason Danning didn't knock the Giants any nearer the driver's seat yesterday was because both Brooklyn and the Reds won too. The chief development in the American league saw the New York Yankees bounce out of the cellar up to a tie for sixth place

The Dodgers, blanked for eight innings, handed a heartbreaker to Kirby Higbe and the Phillies, 2-1 in ten innings. Higbe tossed a four-hitter but lost.

The Reds blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0—and they did it behind the one-hit elbowing of Oom Paul Derringer, who had lost three of his last four outings.

* * *

Bob Klinger turned in a six-hitter to nip the Chicago Cubs 3-2 on behalf of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

* * *

Charley Keller clouted a homer and a double, sending in three runs and the Yanks had a 7-2 celebration at the expense of the league-leading Red Sox. Since the A's dropped a 4-3 affair to Washington's Senators on Johnny Welaj's tenth inning homer—moving the Nats into fourth place—the Yanks moved up and Connie Mack's lads sank to the bottom of the loop.

Boston's setback sliced the Red Sox lead to a mere half a game over the Cleveland Indians, who split with the Browns.

The Tigers and White Sox were rained out.

Make Bid For Runaway Race

Kansas City Tries to Stretch Four-Game Lead.

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City, already four games in front, will make its bid in the next three days to turn the American Association campaign into a runaway race.

* * *

The Blues today moved into Minneapolis, second place club which chased them all last season, for three games.

* * *

Kansas City lost its first game in 12 starts Sunday 3-0 when Nate Andrews of St. Paul cut the Blues down with one hit, a single by Frenchy Bordagary. In the seven-inning nightcap, Charles Stanceau tossed a four-hitter to give Kansas City an even break, 1-0.

Minneapolis and Milwaukee likewise split a pair. The Brewers, with a three-run splurge in the 14th inning, defeated the Millers, 9 to 6. In the nightcap, Milt Haefner tossed no-hit, no-run ball to give the Millers a 4-0 decision.

* * *

Seventh-place Toledo climbed to within one game of fifth by beating Louisville twice, 7 to 6, and 5 to 4.

* * *

Indianapolis moved up to within two and a half games of Minneapolis by trampling Columbus in a doubleheader, 2-1 and 8-1.

Like Father, Like Son, Will Suit Irish Coaches

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—(AP)—If athletic ability is inherited—and some persons insist that it is—the Notre Dame coaching staffs should be pretty happy.

* * * * *

Young men bearing names made famous by the exploits of their fathers are scattered through the ranks of almost every sports squad at Notre Dame. And a host of others trying for places on various teams are brothers of former stars at the same sports.

* * * * *

Irish baseball box scores this spring carried the names of Ray and Roy Pinelli, sons of Ray (Babe) Pinelli, National league umpire. Shortstop Ray, jr., hit in the cleanup spot and Roy is an outfielder. Bill Stewart, former Chicago Black Hawk hockey manager and baseball umpire, had a son, Bill, jr., on the diamond squad as a second baseman.

On the track squad William R. Nicholson participated in the hurdles and high jump this spring, recalling for old-timers the exploits of his famous dad, the late John P. Nicholson, former Irish track coach and an Olympic performer in 1912.

Captain of the golf team this spring was Walter Hagen, jr., and a candidate for the right halfback spot in football is Knute Rockne, jr., No sports has to have the fathers of those two identified.

Now, about brothers. The football squad is full of meaningless names on that score. James (Tom) Brock, brother of Nebraska's famed center, Charles Brock, now with the Green Bay Packers, is a center prospect.

* * * * *

Owen McGoldrick wants to play guard just like his brother Jim, 1938, captain, used to play the position. Bill McGannon, left halfback, is a brother of Tom McGannon, late Purdue star. Tony Michuta, brother of the Irish right tackle in 1932-33-34, is after the job his brother used to have.

* * * * *

Oh, yes. A fellow named Joe D'Ambrosio from Herkimer, N. Y., is doing pretty well in college boxing circles, too. His brother is Lou Ambers, former lightweight champion.

State High School Baseball Title up For Decision Today

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The baseball end of Ohio's annual four-ply high school spring athletic carnival was up for decision today, but the champions had been named in track, tennis and golf.

* * *

The baseball competition, halted by Friday's downpour, found Columbus North and Greenfield meeting today for the Class A crown surrendered by Canton McKinley, and Milford and Powhatan Point battling for the Class B title relinquished by Pemberville.

* * *

The tennis matches, also washed out Friday, were completed Sunday with Marshall Chambers, 17-year-old Cincinanti Walnut Hills senior, successfully defending his singles laurels, and Joe Pickering and Bob Cantwell of Youngstown Rayen taking the doubles by beating Bill Friel and Ed Doan of Portsmouth, 6-3, 6-4.

Don Shock of Dayton took over the golf crown with a 154-stroke total. Toledo Devilbiss annexed the team crown with 674 strokes.

Cleveland East Tech's track team won the Class A title with 51 points for the second straight year, outstripping Columbus North which scored 22½.

Xenia's Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphan's Home team won the Class B track-field championship with 38½ points, Oak Harbor taking second with 16. Upper Arlington, defending Class B title holder, scored only one point.

* * *

Three records were set in the track-field events. Bob Shaw of Fremont Ross heaved the shot 53 feet 4¼ inches, Tarver Perkins of Lorain Clearview ran a 4:32.1 mile, and Stuart Wood of Terrace Park chalked up a :09.9 mark in the 100-yard dash for the new records.

ORDINANCE NO 40-77

By Mr. Miller:

An ordinance providing for the borrowing of $18,700.00 in anticipation of the issuance of bonds and the collection of assessments for the improvement of Fourth Street by grading, paving, etc.

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, two-thirds of all members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1. That the Mayor and the City Auditor be and they hereby are authorized to borrow the aggregate sum of $18,700.00, being the estimated cost of the property share of the improvement of the street hereinafter named, by grading, etc., and to issue notes therefor in anticipation of the levy of assessments and the issuance of bonds for such improvement as follows, to wit:

Fourth Street, repaving, reconstructing, curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc., as provided by Ordinance No. 40-76, passed May 25, 1940, in the sum of $18,700.00.

Section 2. Said notes shall bear interest of not to exceed 6% per annum, shall be due and payable not later than two years from the date of their issue and each of said notes shall have legibly written upon it the name of the street, streets or portion thereof improved, and for which it was issued, the proceeds received from the issuance of said bonds shall be used for the particular improvement for which they were borrowed and for no other purpose.

Section 3. This ordinance hereby is declared to be an emergency measure for the immediate preservation of the public safety of said city and its inhabitants and shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage.

Passed: May 25, 1940.
Signed GEO. L. BERG,

Trautman Again Selected as Commission President.

BUCYRUS—F. O. Trautman was re-elected to head the Bucyrus softball commission when members met to reorganize Friday night at Trautman's office.

Other officers returned for another year were E. B. Hagaman, vice president, and Ervin S. Lutz, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the commission besides the officers are Mayor William Whiteamire, Joseph Kaupp, Adam Boryczka, Jay Sharrock and R. L. Hertzer.

Plans for the 1940 season were discussed and the possibility of supervising a hardball program was introduced.

SECRIST RITES

BUTLER—Funeral services were to be held here this afternoon at the Evangelical church for Mrs. Addie Vickroy Secrist, 74, who died at her home Saturday night after a lingering illness. Rev. S. E. Drummond officiated and burial was made in North Fork cemetery near Waterford.

Surviving are her husband, L. N. Secrist; two sons, Paul and Kenneth, both of Fredericktown; three daughters, Mrs. J. H. Huntsman, Fredericktown; Mrs. H. H. Shephard, Mansfield, and Mrs. Steele Baker, Johnsville; two brothers, Marshall Levering, Sevverille, Tenn., and Jay Levering, Mansfield.

RESOLUTION NO 40-73

By Mr Kyle:

Resolution of Municipality Proposing to Co-operate With the Director of Highways.

Whereas, the public interest demands the improvement hereinafter described, and

Whereas, the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, desires to co-operate with the Director of Highways of the State of Ohio, in accomplishing said improvement.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio:

Section 1. That the public interest demands the improvement, under the provisions of Section 1189 and related sections of the General Code of Ohio, of that part of State Highway No 501, situated in the City of Mansfield, County of Richland, and State of Ohio, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning on the Mansfield-Crestline Road, State Highway No. 501, Fourth Street in the City of Mansfield, Ohio, at the west line of North Diamond Street; thence continuing in a general westerly direction over and along said State Highway No. 501 in Fourth Street to Station 77 plus 50, approximately 100 feet west of West Park Boulevard, and there terminate; excepting thererom North Main Street intersection; in all a distance of 1.451 miles.

Section 2. That the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, does hereby propose to co-operate with the Director of Highways of the State of Ohio, in the reconstruction improvement of the above described portion of State Highway No. 501, by assuming and contributing a lump sum of Forty Eight Thousand—00/100 Dollars ($48,000.00), inclusive of engineering, preliminary contingencies and other incidental expenses.

Section 3. That this resolution be and remain in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed May 25, 1940.
Attest: WM. J. BEER,
Clerk of Council.
GEO. L. BERG,
President of Council, pro tem.

Father and Son Problems.

The story of "My Son, My Son" which is showing at the Ohio theater concerns a father and son, and the high hopes that fail to materialize. William Essex's dreams for his son fade into thin air when he realizes that Oliver is vain and selfish; insincere and cynical. Oliver realizes almost too late that he has brought misery to the people who have surrounded him with love and understanding. Brian Aherne plays the role of the father and Louis Hayward, the son. Madeleine Carroll has the feminine lead.

* * *

From Riches to Rags.

Tyrone Power is seen as "Johnny Apollo" in the picture of that title which is showing at the Madison theater. Dorothy Lamour has one of her best roles to date as "Lucky" Dubarry, spohisticated night club entertainer, who walks out on her gangster boy friend, Mickey Dwyer, when Apollo walks into the picture. Edward Arnold is the banker father.

* * *

"Dr. Kildare" Series.

The third of the "Dr. Kildare" series is "The Secret of Dr. Kildare" which deals with the incursion of young Dr. Jimmy Kildare into the detective field to solve the mystery of a strange mental complex of a beautiful girl. This picture starring Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore opens Tuesday at the Majestic theater. The co-feature is "Those High Grey Walls," with Walter Connolly in the lead.

* * *

Joe and Martha Open Mouths.

Continuing through Wednesday at the Park theater will be seen Joe E. Brown and Martha Raye in "$1,000 a Touchdown" and "Son of the Navy," with Jean Parker, James Dunn and Martin Spellman. Jimmy Dunn is seen again in the kind of a role that made him famous. He is a wise-cracking, cheerful sailor who gets into trouble through no fault of his own.

* * *

Charlie McCarthy, Detective.

Beginning Tuesday at the Ritz theater will be "Charlie McCarthy, Detective." The story is about a society murder which McCarthy solves just as the going gets pretty tough for his friend. Charlie is supported by a cast that includes Edgar Bergen, Robert Cummings, Constance Moore and Mortimer Snerd. The co-feature is "Tower of London," starring Basil Rathbone and Boris Karloff.

ORDINANCE NO. 40-75

By Mr. Shultz:

Giving consent of the City to the improvement of Fourth Street under the supervision of the Director of Highways.

Whereas, The Director of Highways is considering the matter of the improvement under his supervision of the public highway known as State Highway No. 501 and

Whereas, Fourth Street, within this city lies in whole or part along the line of said state highway, said Fourth Street being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning on the Mansfield-Crestline Road, State Highway No. 501, Fourth Street in the City of Mansfield, Ohio, at the west line of North Diamond Street; thence continuing in a general westerly direction over and along said State Highway No 501 in Fourth Street to Station 77 plus 50, approximately 100 feet west of West Park Boulevard, and there terminate, in all a distance of approximately 1.451 miles

Whereas, It is proposed to extend said state highway improvement into, within or through this city and along the aforesaid Fourth Street.

Now therefore,

Be It Ordained, by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio:

Section 1: That it is declared to be in the public interest that the consent of said city be, and such consent is hereby given, that said Fourth Street, or so much thereof as is above described lying along the line of said State Highway No. 501 may be improved under the supervision of the Director of Highways.

Section 2: That the Clerk be, and he is hereby directed to furnish to the Director of Highways and to the Board of County Commissioners of Richland County, Ohio, a certified copy of this Ordinance immediately upon the taking effect thereof.

Section 3: That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed May 25, 1940.

ORDINANCE NO 40-76

By Mr. Miller:

An ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of East Fourth Street and West Fourth Street, to wit: East Fourth Street from Diamond Street to Main Street and West Fourth Street from Main Street to approximately the west line of Inlot No. 6343 and No. 7581, by repaving the roadway, resetting and reconstructing curbing, constructing necessary headers, storm drainage, etc., and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for a portion of said improvement.

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of East Fourth Street and West Fourth Street, to wit: East Fourth Street from Diamond Street to Main Street and West Fourth Street from Main Street to approximately the west line of Inlot No. 6343 and No. 7581, by repaving the roadway, resetting and reconstructing curbing, constructing necessary headers, storm drainage, etc., in accordance with resolution No. 40-39, passed April 2, 1940, and in accordance with plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Section 2. That all claims for damage therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed improvement.

Section 3. That said improvement shall be made under the supervision and control of the Director of Highways of the State of Ohio, under the provisions of Section 1189 and related sections of the General Code of Ohio, with the co-operation of the City of Mansfield as provided by law. That the whole cost of said improvement, less the portion of the cost to be paid by the Federal Works Progress Administration and the Ohio State Highway Department, to be divided as follows: The City of Mansfield 30% of intersections and Federal Property, and the balance of cost to be divided equally between the City of Mansfield and the property owners on said street, which shall be assessed by the foot front, upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvement; and the costs of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction, together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures. That to provide for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of East Fourth Street and West Fourth Street as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law $18,700.00 of Street Assessment bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in denominations of from $50 to $1,000.00 each, payable in from one to five years, and bearing interest at the same rate to be borne by the bonds to be issued therefor, payable semi-annually.

That the portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, shall be paid out of the appropriation from the Registration Fee Fund in the sum of $29,300.00, or out of any other funds of said city available therefor and which may be appropriated for such purpose.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

Section 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined. All the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on East Fourth Street and West Fourth Street, between Diamond Street and approximately the west line of Inlot No. 6343 and No. 7361.

Section 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with the moneys recived, if any, from the cash payments of assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury; the accrued interest and premiums shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund, and the remaining portion of the purchase price of said bonds shall be placed to the credit of Fourth Street street improvement fund and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvement aforesaid, and all moneys coming into said Fourth Street street improvement fund are hereby appropriated for the purpose of said improvement.

Section 6. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder, according to law.

Section 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed: May 25, 1940.

PAM—Rescued! By A. W. Brewerton

A MORBID, CURIOUS CROWD QUICKLY GATHERS!
WOW! WHAT A WRECK!
STAND BACK, FOLKS—GIVE 'EM ROOM!
ARE THEY KILLED?
THEY JUST TOOK A GIRL OUT!
DAVID!! IT IS YOU!—OH—I'M SO GLAD!—I WAS TERRIBLY FRIGHTENED!
PAM, MY DARLING! THANK HEAVEN YOU'RE ALIVE!
ARE YOU HURT—HOW DO YOU FEEL, PAM?
MY HEAD!—IT MUST HAVE—STRUCK SOMETHING—I—I CAN'T SEE, IT HURTS SO!—BUT DAVID—PLEASE SAVE—LIL!—SHE—SHE WAS GOOD TO ME—AND SHE WAS AFRAID—THEY'D KILL HER!
SHE'S FAINTED!—POOR CHILD!—OFFICER, HOW ABOUT THAT AMBULANCE?
IT'S COMING NOW, SIR—I HEAR ITS SIREN
IS PAM BADLY HURT?
LET'S BE THANKFUL DAVID IS THERE TO LOOK AFTER HER!

AIRCRAFT AND STEELS LEAD BUYING SURGE

Westinghouse Among Stocks Well in Front Today on Wall Street.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market traders were still war-conscious but apparently less apprehensive today and a little buying came in for steels, aircrafts, coppers and selected leaders in other groups. Gains, running to 2 or more points in the forenoon, were shaded near the fourth hour.

Bonds tended to edge forward and commodities were moderately steady. "Free" sterling and French franc slipped after holding fairly well in the forenoon.

Stocks well in front included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Lockheed, United Aircraft, Du-Pont, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, American Can, Anaconda, Kennecott and American Telephone.

On the side of copper shares was a boost of ¼ of a cent a pound in the quotation for the scrap metal.

Not so pleasing was the sale of a stock exchange seat for $43,000, a new low since 1915.

Boardrooms scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said activities in the hard metal industry were being influenced mainly by the conflict abroad.

The review said that, while the current expansion in steel making was comparable with that of last September, domestic purchases lately had been more restrained than at the time of the outbreak of hostilities.

Bloody Battle Rages In Flanders Fields

Germans And Allies Attempt to Pinch Off Enemy Salients; Fate of 'Lost Million' at Stake

confirmed reports that complete companies of Nazi infantry were wiped out, the French said.

Bodies of Germans were reported "piled high" between the lines.

"The first rush of the enemy has come almost to an end," said French General Duval.

The British air ministry said Royal Air force bombers battered enemy communications in Belgium and Holland.

A German drive centered on Menin, on the Belgian-French border 35 miles northwest of Valenciennes, forced the Allies to withdraw to new lines west of the Scheldt river to protect their left flank.

Hammering through the Lys river valley, the Germans claimed to be within 18 miles of effecting liaison with their forces to the southwest—a maneuver which, if successful, would leave one portion of the Allied armies completely surrounded by German troops, and the other blocked on three sides by the Germans and with the English channel at their backs.

The German high command, meanwhile, declared that Nazi troops had captured Calais, likely springboard for the attack which the Nazi regime has sworn to make on Britain. The Allies maintained Calais still was in their hands.

The French acknowledged the loss of Boulogne but declared the German advance had made no considerable progress for 48 hours. There was a new note of optimism in the attitude of the French high command.

The map of operations showed today that the Allies still were struggling to close the bottleneck of the German salient to the coast by pressing in from Bapaume on the north and Peronne on the south.

The success of such an operation would cut off the route of supplies and reinforcements for the Germans fanning out along the channel coast and at the same time unite the two main Allied armies.

In the operations against the Belgian, French and British troops isolated in Belgium and northern France, the Germans claimed they were drawing a tighter circle, with one Nazi army pressing in northeast of Lille and the other to the southwest.

The British had a new high commander, just as the French gained one a week ago. Lieut. Gen. Sir John Greer Dill became chief of the imperial general staff. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, who had held that office, was given command of the home force.

This apparently indicated the French and British would use new tactics against the German drive and also that more vigorous measures would be taken to build up the defense of Great Britain. Ironside won promotion for building up Gibraltar's defenses; now his task is the same at home.

Heavy blows against the Germans by the Royal Air force were reported in a series of five communiques yesterday; at the same time the British announced the loss of the destroyer Wessex in a German air attack.

Grandson of Kaiser Dies of Wounds Received in Battle

BERLIN—(AP)—The death of Prince Wilhelm of Prussia, 33, from a wound while fighting in Flanders was announced today. He was the oldest son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm and the second Hohenzollern victim of the European war.

The other was Prince Oscar, cousin of Prince Wilhelm. Oscar fell on the Polish front.

Wilhelm received a severe abdominal wound in fighting in Flanders May 23. He was hurried to a military hospital near Brussels where he died Sunday morning after being decorated with the Iron Cross, first class.

He was married to Dorothea Von Salviati, descendant of an Italian family which emigrated from northern Italy to Prussia during the reign of Frederick the Great.

They had two daughters—Princess Felicitas, born at Bonn June 7, 1934, and Princess Christa, born at the castle of Klein-Obisch Oct. 31, 1936.

Italy Appears Speeding To War by Public Demand

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—Easing tension somewhat between the two countries, Italy has agreed to employ the navicert system on all of its liners passing through British contraband control points, it was learned authoritatively today.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—The British embassy in Rome has advised British residents to leave Italy, the Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, reported today.

ROME—(AP)—Italy appeared today to be speeding along the road to war despite British hopes of mollifying Italian bitterness against the Allied blockade.

British asserted Italy had proposed "a very satisfactory basis" for a contraband agreement but this brought no immediate sign of relaxation of preparations of the Italian military machine or dimming of the popular spirit for intervention.

(In London it was said that a plan for Italian ships to carry only cargoes covered by navicerts was the basis of the proposed British-Italian agreement on contraband control. A navicert is a paper certifying the nature of a cargo and approved by a British official.

(It was stated that following Sir Wilfrid Greene's return to London today from Rome, the plan "would ease the way to a reasonable agreement regarding operation of control.)

Most Italians believed any relaxation of the contraband control would fall far short of meeting Fascist "aspirations" for territorial and other concessions so long as the British held the keys to Gibraltar and the Suez canal.

(A dispatch from Malta, British Mediterranean base only 60 miles from Sicily and 150 miles from the toe of the Italian "boot," said Americans there had been advised to leave at the earliest possible moment.)

In the atmosphere of intense preparations for war, these developments occurred yesterday:

1. Premier Mussolini conferred with army chiefs, directors of mobilization and arms producers and subsequently orders were issued to expand the production of artillery and to conserve the nation's gasoline supplies by suspending civilian motor traffic June 1.

2. Banners bearing the words "War, War!" and "Duce, we want to march!" were raised before the premier in Mussolini Forum at the end of a gymnastic exhibition by 10,000 Fascist youths. Mussolini watched impassively.

3. Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano returned from a tour of Albania—conquered and annexed by Italy in April, 1939—in which he received pledges of Albanian support in any Italian war effort.

QUICK DEFENSE ACTION PLEDGED BY ROOSEVELT

President Attacks Groups Attempting to Poison Public Mind.

Majority Leader Barkley and House Majority Leader Rayburn.

Business men welcomed the president's reassurance that private industry would be called upon to turn out the needed planes, tanks, guns, ships, etc, and that the government stood ready to advance the necessary money for plant expansion

The president's attack on Trojan Horse and fifth column activities also was well received. Promising prompt and vigorous action against "spies, saboteurs and traitors," Mr. Roosevelt warned·

"Sound national policies come to be viewed with a new and unreasoning skepticism, not through the wholesome political debates of honest and free men, but through the clever schemes of foreign agents."

The president particularly condemned the activities of certain foreign and racial groups, saying·

"These dividing forces I do not hesitate to call undiluted poison They must not be allowed to spread to the New World as they have in the Old. Moral and mental defenses must be raised as never before against those who would cast a smokescreen across our vision."

In the "fireside chat" — the president's 14th since he took office seven years ago — Mr. Roosevelt told the natior that there is no cause for panic because, forewarned by Europe's wars, the United States is preparing to defend the western hemisphere against any aggression.

This country, said the executive, now has "the largest, the best equipped and the best trained peacetime military establishment in its history."

Declaring that he "will not hesitate to ask" for additional defense funds "when they are required," Mr Roosevelt reproved persons and factions who have insisted that the United States has no concern with affairs abroad.

Report Knudsen First Choice of President.

WASHINGTON—(U P)—William S Knudsen, Danish-born president of General Motors corporation, was reported today to be at the top of the list of civilians President Roosevelt plans to call into his administration to coordinate the national defense program

Nazis No Threat to U. S., Berlin Says.

BERLIN—(INS)—Official German reaction to President Roosevelt's speech to the American people last night was that if the chief executive of the United States feels the country is threatened, it is not by Germany

Authentic spokesmen for the Reich government declared it felt that President Roosevelt's speech was primarily domestic, adding·

"It is America's privilege to arm herself for defense. Only a small clique of warmongers is trying to plunge the country into war."

The spokesman's statement ended

"We say America for America, Europe for Europe"

IRELAND ARMS

Eire Ordered Brought to War Strength at Once.

DUBLIN—(U P)—The army of Eire will be brought to war strength and placed on a war footing at once, it was announced today as the government rounded up fifth column suspects and investigated the connections of the Irish Republican army extremists with certain foreign countries

Army reserves and volunteers are being called by the government in a campaign to bolster the country's defenses.

(There has been fear in London that Germany might attempt to strike at England through Eire)

The IRA investigation was believed to be designed to show whether that outlawed organization had any dealings with Germany.

HOOVER GIVES DEFENSE TALK

Former President Speaks Over Radio Network Tonight.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Former President Herbert Hoover will discuss national defense over the Blue network of the National Broadcasting company tonight at 8:30 p m. EST

The former president was to have broadcast Sunday but the program was put over until tonight when it was discovered that President Roosevelt was speaking.

The theme of Hoover's address will be "Better organization is required if we are to have a real defense"

George Adams jr, 30, and John Vat, both of Canton

Adams sustained internal injuries and a skull injury. Vat received a skull fracture and internal injuries Both were reported in "fair" condition today.

Ashland County Coroner George Emery said Bobolitz, an orderly at Mercy hospital in Canton, died from a fractured skull.

The Hemperley youth's death was the first fatal accident in the county in a month State patrolmen said they were told by Hetler that the youths were riding along the curb and turned to the left in front of his car at the intersection of Arnold avenue, the street on which the Hemperley family lives.

Hetler said he applied the brakes and swerved to the left in order to avoid striking them but failed Patrolmen said the bicycle had no rear light

The boy is survived by his parents, two brothers, Royal and Jerry, and grandfather, Frank Finney

The body was removed to the Wappner Funeral home where services will be held at 3 p m. Wednesday Rev. Leroy Coffey, acting pastor of the Mayflower Congregational church, will officiate Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

VULNERABLE

Pittsburgh and Eastern Ohio Declared Open to Attack.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An engineer's warning that the Pittsburgh industrial region, including eastern Ohio, is vulnerable to bombing planes claimed attention in the senate today.

Written by Samuel Diescher, Pittsburgh consulting engineer, it was put into the record by Senator Davis (R-Pa) with a demand that greater protection be provided for an area described as "the very heart of our defense."

Diescher stated that "invasion of Alaska and Canada is sufficiently possible to give us pause.

He said that most of the steel mills were in lowlands along rivers which would be a guide for bombing planes, that electric power plants were similarly located, and that other important industrial cities were not far distant, such as Akron, O., with its rubber plants, Youngstown, and Cleveland with other facilities for war materials, and coal mines

VERDICT GIVEN

Deaths of Farmer and Wife Called Murder—Suicide.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va—(U P)—A verdict of murder and suicide was recorded today in the deaths of Tucker Vaughn, 56-year-old farmer, and his wife, Maud Authorities said Vaughn shot and then killed his wife at their home in nearby Upland Saturday night and then turned the gun on himself

Vaughn also was said to have fired at a daughter, Gertrude, but missed State police said that the farmer had been separated from his wife for several months.

BANKER MISSING

Relatives Fear Ohioan Has Met Foul Play.

MASON O.—(U P)—L Earl Thompson, 54, president of the First Mason bank, was missing today and relatives feared he had met foul play

Thompson has not been heard from since Saturday when he started to drive to Mason from nearby Monroe where he visited the Monroe Lumber Co, of which he is president.

STRIKE TRUCE

Chicago Milk Companies to Resume Deliveries.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Chicago's second and most prolonged milk strike this month was ended by truce today, and the city million's were promised complete resumption of milk deliveries by nightfall.

The strike, called by the Milk Wagon Drivers' union and the Inside Dairy Workers' union in protest against wage cuts proposed by major associated distributors, lasted eight days.

The truce, agreed to last night by the drivers and dairy workers in mass meeting, contained the following main points· the men return to work at once at wages prevailing before the walkout; negotiations with the dealers to continue to June 10, and, if no agreement can be reached by June 10 the entire matter will be given to an arbitration board for settlement.

BRITISH FLIERS REPORT DAMAGE

Claim Bombs Have Started Huge Fires in German Lines; See Dead 'In Piles.'

(By United Press)

ROYAL AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, IN FRANCE—Royal Air Force pilots asserted today that huge fires are burning all along the German communications route and that great numbers of German dead have been observed on the battlefields.

The pilots said that their bombs had started fires all along the German corridor into France and further back where the German troops and supplies are being brought from Germany.

They asserted that in flying over the fields of battle, mounds of German dead could be observed from the air The fliers asserted that if they could obtain a few hundred more fighting planes they were certain that control of the air could be wrested from the Germans.

PLAN MANSFIELD RAINBOW GIRLS' ORGANIZATION

Eastern Stars Sponsor Plan To Set Up Order For Younger Girls.

When the order of DeMolay was organized here several weeks ago it started something among the girls and as a result a complementary organization is being set up among the daughters and friends of Masons and Eastern Star.

A Mansfield chapter of Rainbow Girls is being sponsored by Ruth Chapter No. 17 O. E. S. and will take in any girl between the ages of 13 and 18 of good character who is recommended by a Mason or an Eastern Star.

The order is a national one and its name has an interesting significance. Any American girl, it is claimed, has a pot of gold waiting for her at the end of the rainbow, and in the vessel will be found the Bible, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the flag of the United States.

The objective of the Rainbow Girls is to develop the highest type of girlhood, healthy, happy, considerate and appreciative of the things that are hers under the American way of living; and to make her conscious of her responsibilities to her home, her city and country.

Mrs. Gertrude B. English is membership chairman for the new organization, with Mrs. Virgil Hartman as advisory mother. The advisory committee is headed by former Mayor Claude M. Hunter.

June 8 has been set as a tentative date for institution of the chapter at John Simpson Junior high school auditorium. The Newark team will come here for the installation. A name for the chapter has not yet been decided on.

LOCKED IN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Sam, a two-year-old English bulldog, locked himself in and his master out of an auto parked downtown.

"Someone must have excited him and he locked the car by placing a paw on the gadget inside which automatically locks," commented Sam's owner, Sam Corbin, a railroad engineer. Corbin was forced to break a glass.

MILITARY PATTERNS

BERKELEY, Cal.—(INS)—Patterns for women's print dress material soon will be a backdrop for Europe's wars, predicts Lanette Scheeline, University of California textile design instructor. The military style, she said, which will be not only novel but extremely colorful. Among her suggestions were a miniature epaulet pattern, and a series of pillboxes.

CHAPTER XX

He had not said it but she knew that he loved her and she knew that she could not postpone the time when he would tell her. Knowing that lessened her joy in him as friend and companion and, after dancing and returning to a table which they had come regard as peculiarly their own, she often found casual conversation difficult; the ardor in his eyes and in his touch was unquestionable. How to cope with it, how to keep him as friend and companion, she did not quite know. Their silences when they walked the deck becoming more prolonged. He quickened her heart and her pulses, he made her laugh and he made her think—requisites for love—but she was not in love with him.

The passengers were particularly gay this evening because the birthday of a prominent and prosperous middle-aged gentleman from New York had been the excuse for a party before dinner, a party which lasted throughout dinner and promised to last through the entire evening. The gentleman with a birthday had assembled the galest, most attractive passengers about him at a table in the ballroom where champagne flowed generously.

Brooke, wearing a slim blue crepe frock which looked neither a year old nor homemade, had danced from one pair of arms to another (conscious that Tony's eyes followed her in every direction). Now she was dancing with Tony again. His mouth was pressed against her hair.

He asked, "Did you bring your wrap? Yes, I see it. Let's get out of here . . ."

The night held a threat of storm. The damp, raw air promised rain. They walked side by side silently until Tony stopped and turned, looking into her face an instant before he drew her to him.

"Broke, may I kiss you? I've—I've wanted to all evening. . . ."

His arms still held her as he gave a chuckle of desperation and said, his breath coming short, "Brooke, you . . . I'm miserable when I'm not with you and miserable when I am. You're . . . Oh, nothing," and kissed her hard on the mouth again. His voice shook, "I've never been in love before. There's a girl at school . . . I wondered . . . but she was only an attractive date when I wanted one. I wonder if you know how I feel now. Darling, are you cold?"

"No, I'm not cold."

"You're trembling. We can't stay here."

"We could go to the lounge. Every one is dancing tonight."

"I've had enough of those drunks. . . ." He released her and took her hand and held it tightly. "Yes, let's go to the lounge."

Only Bill and the producer's wife were in the lounge but they went back to dance, leaving only Brooke and Tony.

Tony looked at her with frank adoration and smiled crookedly.

"It's a crazy sort of setup I have, Brooke. Lord, I've never talked about myself this way to any one! But I haven't told you that until about ten years ago I was poor and didn't mind, and now there's too much money and I mind a great deal. I used to want things, a gun or a bicycle, and I'd have to wait for it. Now . . . but there's never any sympathy for the unhappy heir when any one worries about not enough money. I used to be on my own, too, because there wasn't any one except my mother who cared. Now there are a score of interested people who care when I have a cold . . . the girls I know. They have it so planned that I know what I'll be doing July the tenth or November the fifteenth ten years from now!"

"Why do you let them take your liberty? You're of age, Aren't you?"

He smiled. "Yes. Just about. But have you ever faced a group of stiff-necked executors who reminded you of your duty to the estate and the illustrious family which you didn't even know you had until they dumped a lot of money on you because you happened to be their last blood relation?"

"You could rebel," Brooke said. "I did . . . took a chance. It didn't give me the happiness I anticipated but . . . at least I haven't the vaguest notion what I'll be doing on July the tenth."

"There's a lot about yourself you haven't told me, isn't there?"

"My past?" She laughed quietly. "It isn't very purple. But what are you going to do?"

"The last time I shouted at the top of my lungs and banged on the table. But they stood their ground. I'm to take two years of business administration at Harvard and become a banker." Reaching for her hand, he stroked her fingers lightly. 'And now you are complicating it even more!"

* * *

She looked at him then, her eyes startled at the realization that he believed she was in love with him, and that what he had said was an indirect way of telling her that he could not ask her to marry him now. Suddenly she felt the chill of shock. She thought. "Tony, love isn't always mutual! With Rod I thought that what I felt for him was returned in full measure, too. Why will not our vanity permit us to see that the one we love cannot and does not love us? Vanity or blindness. . . . I'm learning at the expense of Tony's heart a different kind of love. This time I'm on the outside looking in, pitying, restraining the truth of my feelings for him. Isn't love fair—ever?"

She said, "You've years of school ahead of you yet. But don't give up all of your freedom. I'm not an authority on living. I'm a novice, too, searching, gropping."

"Have I you ahead of me? That's what I want to know."

She said gravely, "I don't know where I'll be July the tenth."

"Let me worry about that." Lifting her hand, he put it to his lips. "Back to the ogre? We're being talked about, did you know? A sweet old lady asked me today where my wife was. I beamed, I was so flattered, and I didn't tell her you weren't."

"I haven't seen Harriet this evening."

Tony arched a well-formed dark brow. "I suspect that she and Mr. Ricardo have found a place less conspicuous than this."

"Who's being talked about now, and who is talking?"

"Wretch."

They went back to the music, laughing, and tonight it was later than it had been the night before when she said good night quietly outside her cabin door, thinking that if she lingered he would perhaps not ask to kiss her again, but kiss her without permission tonight and all the nights to come.

Going into her cabin, Brooke did not undress but sat on the edge of the bed, her eyes disturbed with the certainty that in the end Tony would be hurt. She knew that Rod had had these same thoughts—that in the end she would be hurt. Queer, this reverse. She was in Rod's position now, seeing Tony as herself, ardent, optimistic, believing. . . . Tony, young and dear, whose love touched her face with radiance again. And how difficult it was to reject that which is given too rarely! "There are two kinds of people, the ones who hurt and the ones who are hurt." Who had said that? She pondered for some time before she remembered that Julian had said it. She thought, "If I ever see him again, I'll tell him it is quite possible to be both."

One day at sea passed almost unnoticed into the next, and Brooks had lost all count of time until the small calendar in her bag reminded her that they would be in Colon the next day.

Sultry tropical heat kept Mrs. Kingsbury on the ship and permitted Brooke the freedom to explore Colon and Panama City with Tony. His boyish enthusiasm had never been more pronounced than now. He showed her places he had seen many times before, places new and strange and exciting to her.

As they stood in a small shop in Panama City where gifts were incredibly inexpensive, Tony said, moping her forehead, "Let's go some place for a cool drink. From the freezing temperatures of Michigan to this! I know a place and a bartender."

* * *

In a small, cool underground cafe, Tony made what he called his semiannual greeting to a villianous-looking, unkempt bartender, then joined Brooke again at the round table, smiling at the sight of her dark hair, moist and curling childishly about her flushed face.

"And I complained about leaving Michigan and history," he said and laughed the young, throaty laugh that had become so familiar. "I was never any good at keeping a secret. I'm going on to Hawaii as soon as I've seen my mother in California and paid my reluctant respects to the executors."

"But, Tony, I work! I've had freedom on the ship because there's been no place for Mrs. Kingsbury to go. She doesn't know about you." But Ellen did, having once or twice encountered them together and Ellen had looked as if she shared a highly amusing secret. "We're going to visit Mrs. Kingsbury's niece, you see, and several strikes have been called on me before I meet her."

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, MAY 27, 1940.

Nazis think Hitler will go down in history—but maybe he will merely go down.

Oglethorpe university's "crypt of civilization" is not to be opened until 8113—and that will be an interesting thing to keep in mind.

A Detroit policeman has been suspended thirty days for intoxication and being involved in a traffic accident—and let that be a lesson to him.

Mansfield's Ten-Year Growth

WHILE Mansfield's actual population, according to the census just being completed, is not yet known, the preliminary figures, which indicate a 10-per cent increase during the past ten years, evidence the same sort of healthy growth to which this city has become accustomed through more than a half century.

If, as now appears, the population of Mansfield (inside corporation lines) approximates 37,000, with a total of around 70,000 for Richland county, this city and county will represent what many will regard as an almost ideal population balance.

Madison township, of which Mansfield makes up a large part, will probably also show a satisfactory percentage of increase in population, due to suburban growth of this city in all directions as the confines of municipal bounds have offered decreasing opportunities for attractive moderately priced homesites and as automobiles have made it more convenient to travel several miles between home and work.

Persons who may be inclined to feel disappointed by the smaller percentage of gain in Mansfield's population since 1930 than in the preceding decade may well recall the circumstances under which a considerable part of that earlier increase came about and bear in mind that much of this city's more recent relief problems resulted from ill-advised efforts to increase population at that time without assurance of self-sustaining employment for many of those encouraged to come here.

Greater hardships which have been undergone by a number of other Ohio cities during the past ten years, because of earlier mushroom growth, have tended to reduce emphasis on mere bigness and substituted a desire to keep urban populations within the limits of providing employment for all adult citizens who are able to do some kind of necessary work.

If this can be done in Mansfield, and if, at the same time, this city can continue to develop along lines which make it a desirable community in which to live, to work, and to rear children, there is no justification for concern over whether the census shows a population of under or over 40,000.

West Fourth Paving To Proceed

NOW that Mansfield city council has cleared the way for the state highway department to start the re-paving of West Fourth street within the next few weeks, the importance of completing this job as quickly as possible should be impressed upon everyone who has any responsibility in connection with the work.

As one of Mansfield's two main east-west highways, the blocking of Fourth street discommodes thousands of people every day, in addition to inconveniencing residents of the street and causing financial loss to business places.

The matter of days, therefore, is important in planning and working toward the quickest possible completion of repaving the street, so that it can be re-opened to traffic.

There will be public approval of employing available local skilled and unskilled WPA labor on this project, insofar as can be done without delaying completion, but this is a thoroughfare of too much community importance to be closed indefinitely for the mere purpose of providing jobs for persons who might otherwise be unemployed.

Nor should the need for competent supervision and capable inspection of the work, as it is going along, be overlooked. A number of Mansfield's unpleasant past experiences with slipshod street paving, which went to pieces within a few years and involved heavy repair and replacement costs, were the result of lax supervision and inspection.

New Bridge to Canada

WHILE bridges are being blown up in Europe to make communication between countries harder, a new international bridge has been started in this hemisphere. Officials of Canada and the United States broke ground the other day at Niagara Falls, N. Y. With a two-handled shovel, which permitted two men to dig together, they tossed up the first earth to make way for the supports for the American end of a bridge to span the Niagara gorge.

The American speaker expressed the hope that "this new international bridge may be a symbol of everlasting peace and that the close friendship of those two countries may have God's blessing." The Canadian speaker added. "We are building in this project much more than a bridge—an international bond and pledge. We are building a tangible, durable expression of the great friendliness which exists between our two nations. The steel which will soon be moving across the border line will be an added bond between two friendly nations, a utility of convenience rather than a monument of hate."

The new bridge will take the place of the one that collapsed in 1938 under the pressure of a great ice jam. When it is finished, it will be crossed by steady streams of North Americans, visiting each other's countries for business and pleasure, with full confidence in the good will of their neighbor's government toward their own.

Children and Firearms

RECENT tragic occurrences which resulted from firearms being permitted in the hands of children have caused the Toledo chief of police to order patrolmen in that city to confiscate all rifles carried by youths.

In addition to this order attention has been directed to the Ohio law against possession of guns by persons under 17, which law also makes gifts of guns to youngsters illegal.

Commenting on this action the Toledo Blade says: "It is well for parents and merchants to have their attention directed to this law which has been so widely disregarded due to ignorance of the fact that it exists. However, it is a wise law. Even if there were no such restrictions, the wisdom of keeping firearms and air rifles out of the hands of children should be obvious to all."

Similar sensible action might well be taken in other Ohio cities, few of which are free from at least occasional sad happenings of the same sort.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Over in the block-long munitions building, whose architecture is early 20th Century whitewashed barracks, the army boys have torn from their books that venerable saying, "You can't beat the Dutch."

On the nice clean page they have inserted, there is a "Warning to Future Generals: The way those fifth columns work beats the Dutch."

Sifting down the reports of the Nazi's five-day blitzkrieg of Holland, the army experts have concluded that the fifth column again has proved itself the most valuable weapon developed in modern warfare.

The secret magic with which the Nazi hordes over-ran Holland, although the Dutch had been preparing for such an emergency for years, can, say the army men, be summed up in two words: Internal combustion.

For example, from the very outset of the German invasion, snipers took a toll of Dutch soldiers from the roofs and windows of buildings even in the well-policed cities of The Hague, Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

* * *

Two Cops on Duty.

WHEN the sixth column, or parachute troops, arrived at one of the main airports near Rotterdam, only two civil policemen were on duty—the only logical conclusion being that some one in the army had ordered all troops away from the airport at the zero hour.

In several of the principal cities, the air raid alarm system went completely haywire. Sirens screamed day and night, throwing the cities into utter confusion.

In Amsterdam, the water supply system—that vital artery which is the first objective of saboteurs — washed out completely.

In The Hague, the heart of the Dutch government, there was an uprising which took on the aspects of an organized revolution.

Hour after hour, parachute troops were reported landing in localities where, strangely, Dutch troops weren't.

And most significant of all, the Nazi invasion of Holland wasn't even off the griddle before England started a nation - wide clean-up of aliens.

There's one thing more, though this occurred in Belgium. Army officers who fought in World war I looked over the collapse of Namur, and the apparently ineffective resistence of the outer forts of Leige and ran back through the pages of memory.

* * *

Kaiser Had Trojan Horse.

THERE, they found the stories of the fall of these two great fortresses in 1914, and reports current then that a "fifth column" had been working for months with the German high command to bring about their capitulation. A former intelligence officer recalls that German imperialists, months before August, 1914, bought large estates near these fortresses, and showed a great predilection for building cement tennis courts. It wasn't discovered until Belgium was a shambles that the "tennis courts" were cement slabs 30 feet deep, and really hidden emplacement for big guns that battered the forts into heaps of crushed rock.

The conclusion here is that that "secret weapon" of Hitler's is no more than this same fifth column. The report that the men in Fortress Eben Emael suddenly discovered their machine guns and small cannon would not work was the clue. Somewhere among those 1,000 men who threw up their hands in surrender must have been dozens or even scores who walked the Nazi glory road instead of the trail to prison camps.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, May 27, 1920.

President Wilson vetoed Knox resolution declaring war with Germany and Austria at an end.

Mrs. C. H. Snyder died at the family home in Ausdale.

Unusually large crowd attended annual lawn fete at Hedges school park.

Miss Elsie Druggan, superintendent of General hospital, returned from convention of hospital association in Columbus.

Twenty-third wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Kiplinger.

Christian Bormuth moved from North Diamond street to 184 West Fifth street.

Miss Ruth Beninghoff returned from Nyack, N. Y., after taking missionary training course.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, May 27, 1935.

Henry Hasenzahl, 14 Columbia avenue, city fireman, fell at home when a ladder slipped, sustaining fractured bone in left foot.

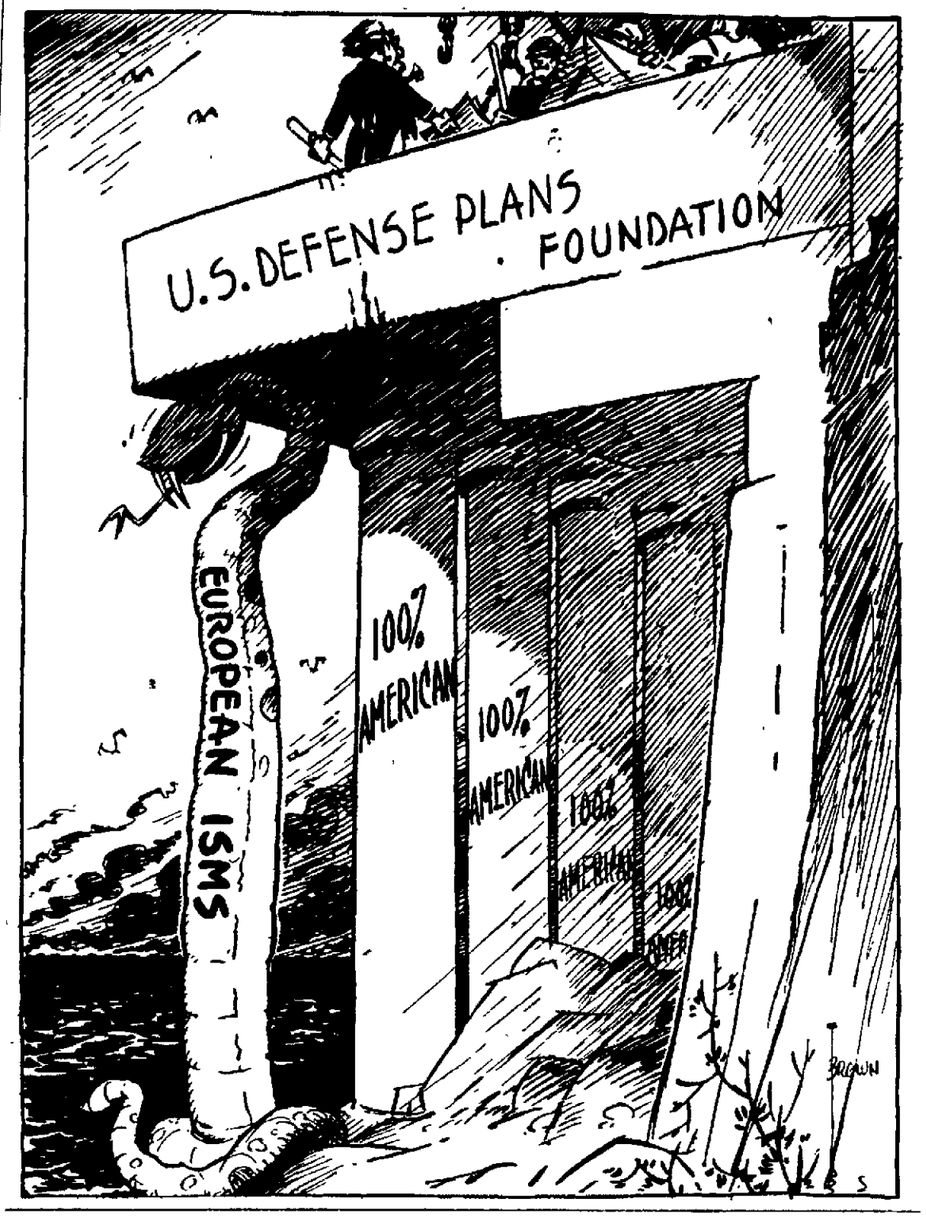
Announcement was made that 50 new homes would be built in Mansfield within the next several months.

Mabel Hahn, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hahn, 235 Lexington avenue, was injured when hit by hit-skip driver while bicycling.

Number of names listed in the new telephone directory totaled 11,883.

Darrell Faust of Mansfield was to serve as an interne at the St. Vincent's hospital, Toledo, following study from Ohio State university in June.

THE FIFTH COLUMN MENACE



Consider Lack of Skilled Labor

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WITH ten or a dozen millions of unemployed in the country, it sounds rather peculiar to discover that we haven't enough to do a rush job of armament manufacturing in connection with our national preparedness program.

As a matter of fact, of course we do have the men. The trouble with them is that too small a proportion of them have the skill required for the task in hand. Those who haven't it, will need to be trained. Experts say that this will take from two to four years, at least. Meantime, armament-making can't progress nearly as rapidly as we want it to.

Some of our captains of industry blame union labor for our shortage of skilled mechanics. Their story is that the unionists have held apprenticeship at much too low a figure. It's been advantageous to the unionists themselves, from the standpoint of good wages, short hours and plenty of jobs to go around, but now we haven't the qualified workers that we need in our present emergency.

Labor Problem.

There may be something in what these critics contend. However, the skilled hands were sufficiently numerous throughout the decade in which several millions of youngsters were arriving at a suitable age for employment.

If they'd been apprenticed during that period they'd have overstocked the labor market at a juncture when there wasn't the demand for armament-producers that has developed in the few weeks since Herr Hitler started his biggest blitzkrieg. The fault-finding industrialists remark that union leadership ought to have foreseen what was coming, but they fail to mention that they didn't foresee it, either.

Well, testify the industrial authorities before various congressional committees, skilled labor will have to work all the harder for awhile, until the newly recruited apprentices are adequately trained to help out.

Already there's talk of the necessity for modification of the Walsh-Healey law, which specifies a maximum eight-hour day in factories engaged in the filling of government contracts — for war supplies. A 60-hour week is suggested.

It's Long Task.

To be sure, the workers will be paid for overtime. Even so, it will be a couple of years before we can be on a "war footing," according to General George C. Marshall, army chief-of-staff, as a witness before the senate military affairs committee. And a "war footing," the general added, is what we need to be shooting for.

Labor leadership is co-operative, its spokesmen in Washington indicate. In one respect, though, it evidently is worried.

The argument's this:

Suppose we do expand our war-manufacturing industries enormously, lengthen working hours by a dozen a week and add about 1,000,000 men to our armament-producers' ranks. And then suppose that the war suddenly flops.

Won't organized labor find itself completely swamped?

I wouldn't for a minute imply that American armament-making labor is pro-German.

Nevertheless, it has, technically, something to gain from a Nazi victory.

If Germany Wins—

If the Nazis win, there's no question that Uncle Sam will need to remain armed to the hilt. He will be everlastingly suspicious of Hitler, of Mussolini, of the mikado and, maybe, Stalin. That'll guarantee plenty of jobs for workers in our armament plants, on into the indefinite future.

But if, after two or three years' fighting, during which we'll have been arming as fast as we can, suppose the totalitarians flatten out?

In that event we shan't regard the Allies as potential enemies and can terminate our military, naval and aerial preparedness forthwith, leaving our expanded armament organization out on an economic limb.

I think our industrialists, as well as our labor leaders, sense this.

It would be lovely, from both their standpoints, to have the blitzkrieg "blitz" as soon as possible, enabling them to decide on which side of the fence to jump. They're both anti-Nazi; no doubt about that. But, for practical reasons, they mutually would like to know which is which.

Health And Diet

Doctor Looks At Cup That Cheers.

—By DR. CLENDENING

TEA, like coffee, increases the rate and strength of the heart, it causes mental stimulation because the blood flows through the brain faster, and it causes elimination through the kidneys by increasing blood flow there.

Personally, I prefer coffee and only drink tea in those countries where coffee is an undrinkable beverage. The cup of slop they give you in some countries and call coffee is something that a little boy would make to play a joke on his grandmother. On ships returning from Europe in the old days, there used to come a look over the faces of the Americans about the second day out which we called the "coffee look." They were returning to the land which was to them not only the land of freedom, but the land of coffee.

After knowing what good coffee is, I am expressing a purely personal opinion when I say that drinking tea is like kissing your sister. I see no reason for the vogue of iced tea. However, for those who like it, it is a good drink and it has the same advantages for middle-aged people as coffee.

A Tea Legend.

It is a somewhat more aristocratic drink than coffee: at least, it has a longer heredity, and was drunk in China so long ago that there are few legends about its origin.

For those who think it is a harmful beverage, the legend that was introduced by a Chinese emperor, who was called the Divine Healer, may be comforting. An old Chinese book says that "it is good for tumors or abcesses that come about the head and for ailments of the bladder; it dissipates heat caused by phlegms or inflammation of the chest; it quenches thirst; it lessens the desire for sleep."

The Dutch brought tea to Europe about 1610, a few years before coffee.

Historically, tea has played an important part. Certainly we in America should never forget that the tax on tea was one of the causes for our separation from England. I like to think that this caused Americans to learn how to brew coffee.

Sidney Smith said: "I am glad I was not born before tea," but that is a British opinion. He had never tasted a cup of American coffee.

Another Rushmore Memorial.

Women's organizations want a memorial to the nation's greatest feminine leaders carved on Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Gutzon Borglum is completing the sculpturing there of the heads of Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt. These heads are on the scale of men 465 feet high. The federal government appropriated $600,000 for that work.

Borglum is in sympathy with the new idea and is helping plan a national conference of women to talk over plans for the memorial. The first woman suggested for this new memorial is Susan B. Anthony—the great emancipator of women. The start is a good one. No argument against the colossal tribute to the great women patriots is apparent.—Toledo Blade.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Way back in the Coolidge administration ex-Senator Walter Edge of New Jersey proposed a "second Panama Canal" to be built through Nicaragua. The proposal was considered an excuse for senators to take a free trip to Nicaragua, and nothing ever came of it.

Today, however, a lot of people in the army, navy and on Capitol Hill are wishing that the Edge proposal had been acted upon. For they know, though most people do not know, that a secret test raid on the Panama Canal was made during the last naval maneuvers. And it was most disastrous.

Air experts long have asserted that the canal is easily vulnerable from the Pacific side, for there are no protecting islands in the Pacific from which radio stations can warn of an approaching enemy. (On the Atlantic side are Haiti, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and others.)

So during the last naval maneuvers, waves of "enemy" planes were sent from carriers several hundred miles off the Pacific coast. They were instructed to get through the barrage of mock anti-aircraft fire protecting the canal and blow up the locks. The result almost caused the military chiefs to jump out of their boots.

An average of three out of five planes making the attack got through unscathed and dropped their bombs.

* * *

New Locks or Bases?

ON CAPITOL HILL there has been a hot inner row regarding new locks for the Panama Canal. The war department requested $15,000,000 for immediate work on a new set of locks which, in the end, would cost $277,000,000, and earlier in the session, the house of representatives balked at this. But the senate OK'd the expenditure, and they are now threshing out the matter in committee.

However, the new locks would not be completed for six years, and even when completed could be just as easily wrecked.

So with the debate made largely theoretical by the latest naval maneuvers, Representative Francis Case of South Dakota and Ed Izac of California, Annapolis-trained navy veteran, advocate a more immediate and practical solution—the acquisition of the Galapagos and Cocos Islands as air bases, similar to Puerto Rico and Guantanamo. These lie 1,000 and 500 miles, respectively, away on the Pacific side of the canal.

Both Ecuador, which owns the Galapagos group, and Costa Rica, which owns Cocos Island, have indicated their willingness to negotiate a sale or lease of the islands. But so far, despite the urgent appeals of the war department, Secretary of State Hull has made no move in this direction. He takes the position that overtures might arouse Latin American fears of U. S. intentions.

Meanwhile the nation's "lifeline" between the Atlantic and the Pacific continues to be one of the weakest links in our national defense.

LaFollettes In Mexico.

MRS. JOSEPHUS DANIELS will not soon forget the visit she had in Mexico City from Mr. and Mrs. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin. The ambassador to Mexico invited the former governor and his wife to dinner when they arrived on tour. When the LaFollettes accepted, other guests were invited for the occasion.

Mrs. Daniels is well aware that visitors to Mexico often suffer stomach disorders, and she takes care that only the best food is served at her table.

But when the first course—a delectable fruit cup—was set before the guests, Mrs. LaFollette, seated at the right of the ambassador, called down the table to Governor LaFollette, seated at the right of Mrs. Daniels, "Phil! Don't you touch this fruit cup. Remember, we're not to eat fruit in Mexico!"

Throughout the meal, after inspecting this dish and that, she called down the table to her husband, admonishing him to abstain from the embassy food. Mrs. Daniels tried to pass it off with polite assurances, but Mrs. LaFollette remained hygienic to the end.

French Peace?

IT IS DIFFICULT to know how much credence to put in it, but there is a report in French circles that Hitler already has indicated to Paris what his peace terms are.

He would require the surrender of Tunis and French Somaliland to Italy, and the complete severance of the alliance with Great Britain. But he would not require France to give up Alsace-Lorraine.

According to this report, Hitler will require that France become a monarchy under the Count of Paris, and presumably a Fascist monarchy co-operating closely with Germany.

Note—In contrast, note the reference to France in Hitler's book, Mein Kampf, in which he said there was no excuse for the existence of France and that it should be destroyed.

* * *

War Notes.

TO UNDERSTAND the crucial position of the French today it is necessary to remember that since 1870 they have constantly maneuvered to avoid facing Germany alone. Only 42,000,000 people against 80,000,000 people is not the most welcome match; so France has negotiated alliances with Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Jugoslavia and England. But now, unfortunately, she finds herself absolutely alone. All the allies have deserted, except for England. And not one British soldier except a few aviators are fighting in France. The bulk of the British army is in Belgium. . . . France as well as Hitler had a time-table. It specified that Liege, the strongest fortress in Belgium, would hold out for six to eight weeks (it fell in 48 hours). It also provided that Sedan would hold out for four weeks (it also fell in 48 hours). Also that the Meuse Valley would hold out for two months (it fell in 48 hours). . . . Greatest surprise of the war is how the Meuse Valley was taken so soon. It was not actually included in the Maginot Line because it was considered naturally impregnable. Dense forests, a deep valley and few roads made it difficult for travel. Yet German tanks succeeded in cutting through in less than two days. The French as yet have no explanation.

Daily Bible Thought

Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. Isaiah 55:6, 7.

Grandma's Garden

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SAW her working in her little garden close to the house. Her slender shoulders stooped and her forearms below the rolled up sleeves were very thin and darkly tanned. She wore a gray gingham dress and a sunbonnet stiffened with pasteboard stays. As I passed she stopped hoeing and looked in my direction, shyly.

I glimpsed an animated wrinkled face that I cannot soon forget. It had peace, and rare contentment, kindliness and wise understanding. She had borne the burden and heat of the day, now "at evening time it shall be light."

I noticed how tenderly her crooked fingers caressed the stems of early flowers, just above the ground. She seemed to speak to them, but I could not understand. Four little rows of peas were tender, dark green and thrifty. Longer rows of beans were slightly nipped by frost. In the onion bed beside the fence, clean tender shoots were already half their height. An occasional green parsnip spread its leaves upon the surface of the well-worked soil.

"Come in, now, grandma," called someone from the kitchen window. "Don't stay and work too long."

"Yes, yes," the trembly high voice replied. "I'll come," but instead she walked feebly over to her growing bed of teas. Camomile and sage, yarrow and tansy, thyme and even catnip. Leaning on her hoe, she plucked a leaf from each in turn, crushed it between thumb and forefinger and bore it to her nostrils. Her very posture seemed to say, "I love you, but I can't be with you long."

"Why don't you come in?" called someone impatiently again. "The sun is too hot—you don't have to work out there."

"I'll be in very soon," grandma answered with a smile, and went on pulling tender thrifty weeds from among the beets that bordered the central garden bed.

Today when I passed, grandma was not in the garden. I saw her hoe hung between two paling heads. The lines of peas, beans and onions had grown a little taller. The colony of old time teas seemed somehow deserted and out of date. No wrinkled hand would touch them tenderly again.

On the upper center of the door was a wreath of purple crepe and handmade flowers. I saw a vase of white and purple violets upon the window ledge. The air was sweet with orchard bloom and the fragrance of yellow spice blossoms. The sun shone warm. She herself would have said "The world is too beautiful for sadness. I leave my hoe."

SEEKS TITLE TO COUNTY ACREAGE

Conservancy District Goes to Court to Clear Right to Land Ownership.

In an action on file today in common pleas court, the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy board seeks to clear the title to 452 acres in the flood district in southeastern Richland county so the land can be transferred to the federal government

Among the defendants in the suit are County Treasurer John E Kolb and County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe who, the plaintiff contends, sought to collect $2,757 in delinquent taxes on the properties after the land was sold to the conservancy district, supposedly clear of tax claims

The plaintiff contends the special tax duplicate for the properties was not available to Atty T J. McDermott who checked the titles and found no claims against the land.

Also named defendants were Jessie C Darling, Perrysville, Harry T. Manner, Effie J Manner, both of Mansfield, George Schrack, Perrysville, and Noble C. Manner, Detroit, Mich., former owners of the land

The conservancy district asks the court to void the county's tax claim on the land and declare the title clear Atty. John C. O'Donnell is counsel for the conservancy board

Deadly New Air Weapon Employed by French Fighters

CANNON USED IN DIVES ON ARMORED FOE

Large Sized Tank Destroyed, Eye-Witness Account of Air Raid Given.

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch by Kenneth Downs, revealing existence of a new French diving fighting plane and graphically describing the work of the French air force, was written yesterday but delayed in transmission nearly 24 hours.)

By KENNETH DOWNS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE FRENCH AIR FORCE IN THE NORTH — A deadly new French fighting plane has successfully attacked German armored vehicles, French authorities claimed today.

I had the fortune to be with the air force on this red letter day when the electrifying report was received that the fighter plane, using its cannon in dive attacks, destroyed a large-sized German tank and one armored car.

While it would be foolish to try to evaluate the importance of this event until further tests are made, even non-military observers who have been following the course of the war for the past two weeks can see tremendous potentialities in such news.

In my first trip up to the air force front since May 10, I saw the truly gigantic proportions of their task.

I arrived just in time for an air raid at the first fighters' field I visited. It was at high noon when I first heard faintly that unmistakable "woom . . . woom . . . woom" of a German bi-motored bomber. The drone of the lone plane rapidly swelled into the roar of an approaching but invisible air fleet.

But within two or three minutes we managed to glimpse the flight of them in the hot, hazy sky.

There were three first, then five and finally we counted 15. They passed from view in a twinkling, but we heard what we estimated to be 15 to 20 others pass over. (Four words censored here.)

The roar overhead assumed new notes as unseen French fighters approached from several directions. Occasionally we could see these flying darts speeding on lines converging with the enemy.

The boom of pompom guns and the rip of machine guns joined the chorus. Then, about 20 miles away, we heard the first explosions of bombs which became almost continuous.

It takes a long while to tell, but actually it happened in a matter of minutes. I don't know how the fight came out, but I was told the Allies shot down about 100 planes today. And I imagine part of those we saw contributed to the total score.

After the raid I talked to the pilots who had been fighting an hour before our arrival. One of them was a dead ringer for Jack Dempsey, the ex-champion, in his younger days. This airman was credited with just having brought down his third Dornier.

Here is what the pilot said:

"I picked him (the German plane) up east of here. Like most of them, who have instructions not to fight if they can avoid it—they do this to conserve machines—Fritz tried to get away when he saw me.

"I got on his trail and was ready to fire when he got into a cloud. I piled in after him. I saw a German Messerschmidt hustling up behind as I went into the cloud, so I knew I would have to gamble quickly.

"Although I was wrapped in the cloud and unable to see, I opened up my guns on the line I thought Fritz was taking. When I burst from the cloud I saw him falling in flames. I followed him until he landed and then returned."

LOSES CASH, RING TO HOLD-UP MEN

Victim Tells Police Men Accosted Him Near Home.

George Wappner, 286 South Main street, told police last night that he was held up by two colored men and robbed of $6 and a $225 diamond ring.

Wappner told officers that he was stopped on Olive street a short distance from his home by two men, both colored. He said that one of the pair held him by the arm while the other took his billfold containing $6 and tore the ring from his finger. One of the men kept his hand in his coat pocket. Wappner said he did not know whether the men had a gun.

SHELBY HONORS ITS WAR DEAD

Memorial Service Conducted at First Baptist Church Sunday Morning.

SHELBY — "Lest We Forget" was the subject of the address given by Rev. W. L. Peters Sunday morning at the annual memorial service for Shelby's war dead held at First Baptist church.

Rev. Peters spoke on the memories of the veterans of the wars who have died in past years and pointed out the needless waste of life in past European conflicts in which the United States engaged.

Patriotic organizations attending the service in a body were American Legion and auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars lodge and auxiliary, Daughters and Sons of Civil War Veterans and Women's Relief corps.

Other appropriate memorial services for the war dead of this community were held as the regular morning worship programs at First Church of Christ, First Presbyterian and First Methodist churches.

HAMMER DEATH TRIAL OPENED

Youth Faces Fate for Murder of Huntsville Telegraph Operator in February.

(By International News Service)

BELLEFONTAINE— The first of three persons accused of the hammer slaying of Fred Jenkins, 51-year-old telegrapher at nearby Huntsville, was to go on trial today, charged with first degree murder.

Donald Slater, 18, a roomer at the Jenkins' home, was to be the first tried. Following him will come Mrs. Minnie Jenkins, 47, widow of the slain man, and Merlin Jenkins, 18-year-old son of the victim.

Logan County Recorder J. Ewing Smith said that Slater confessed he had beaten Jenkins to death with a claw-hammer while he slept last Feb. 1. Smith said Slater confessed that he and Mrs. Jenkins carried the body to an automobile and drove 70 miles to Miamisburg where the corpse was thrown out.

Slater was aided by Merlin Jenkins in disposing of a bed from which had been removed a blanket wrapped about the slain man, according to Prosecutor Smith.

Mrs. Jenkins and Slater were granted sanity hearings but found to be sane. They both asked for a jury trial, but Merlin has placed his fate in the hands of a three-judge court.

Saturday, Judge Lawrence Zupp refused to release the Jenkins youth on bail.

STAR ENLISTS

Robert Montgomery Accepted for Ambulance Service.

LONDON—(AP)—Robert Montgomery, American motion picture actor, has been accepted as an ambulance driver for the American field service and expects to leave for France Wednesday or Thursday.

He has been comparatively inactive since his arrival in England in January and has been awaiting an opportunity for active war service. He will operate from headquarters in Paris, where he will receive his uniform and equipment.

There are more than 100,000 softball teams listed in the United States.

MAIL ESSAYS BY TOMORROW IF YOU'D TRY FOR TOUR OF OHIO

Two Richland county school boys or girls have a "perfectly swell" trip awaiting them soon after they put away their school books for the summer; a trip which will take them all over Ohio in company with other boys and girls of the same age brackets, with stop-overs at the best hotels and with time out for picture shows and a grand time.

The two from Richland county will be the winners of the "Let's Explore Ohio" contest, which is being held under the sponsorship of The News-Journal and the Standard Oil company.

The deadline for the contest is midnight tomorrow night. Entering it is easy as falling off a log—and with much nicer results. It is only necessary to write about 100 words, in the form of a letter, on "The Most Interesting Spot In Ohio."

The "spot" can be anything the boy or girl wants to make it—any place they have visited or read about which held their interest. Any boy or girl in Mansfield and the county is eligible, who is between 12 and 15 years inclusive.

The trip, covering 1,000 miles and lasting a week, will be entirely free, and there will be a doctor, a trained nurse, a lecturer and guide on each bus. Every night the boys and girls will be taken to good hotels where they can have plenty of rest. There will be a supervisor for both girls and boys.

Entries must be mailed not later than midnight tomorrow to the "Let's Explore Ohio" editor, News-Journal.

DIES AT HOME

Leo G. Brewer Was Veteran of War With Spain.

Leo G. Brewer, 72, of 641 Arlington avenue, died Sunday morning at the home following a brief illness. Born in South Lima, N. Y., Aug. 28, 1867, Mr. Brewer had been a resident of Mansfield 35 years. He was an employe of the Ohio Brass company.

He served in Company G 33rd Volunteer infantry during the Spanish-American war, and was a member of the Venus lodge No. 52 F. and A. M., and the Junior O. U. A. M.

Surviving are his wife, Mary Eggert Brewer; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Constance and Mrs. Marion Doodruff and four grandchildren of Mansfield, and a sister, Mrs. Nora Everett of Kalamazoo, Mich.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

STAY EXTENDED

Ray Russell, 22, today is facing an extended stay at Ohio State Reformatory. He escaped from the Sandusky honor camp May 8 and was apprehended Friday at St. Marys.

Reformatory Superintendent Arthur Glattke reported that Russell, who had been admitted from Auglaise county in 1926 on a one to 20 year sentence for forgery, was returned to the reformatory yesterday; his sentence will be extended as penalty for the escape attempt.

DINE AT CLUB

Doctors To Entertain Wives At Westbrook Wednesday.

The annual dinner and bridge for members of the Richland County Medical Society and their wives will be held Wednesday evening at the Westbrook Country club.

He saw the war pictures allright, but found them a bit old. The paper, dated April 5, 1917, had been more than 23 years arriving at its destination.

POLITICAL CLUB PICKS OFFICERS

Cincinnati Attorney Heads Ohio War Veteran Republicans.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Thomas L. Tallentire, Cincinnati attorney, today became president of the War Veterans Republican club of Ohio.

Tallentire, former state legislator, said America's need for defense was a "terrific indictment of the present national administration."

He also called upon veterans of the last war to fight shoulder to shoulder "with every mother's son who would be called upon to serve" if the need arises to defend the U. S.

Other officers elected by the club at its closing session yesterday where Col. John Harley, Lima, first vice-president; Col. James Polley, Cleveland, second vice-president; Hubert Clay, Ironton, third vice president; Ralph Wolf, Columbus, secretary; Virgil G. Martin, Xenia, treasurer, and Jesse Phillips, Cleveland, sergeant-at-arms.

Governor Bricker, Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland and Rep. John Vorys, R., Columbus addressed the club Saturday.

DEMS SET DATE

Committee to Meet Tomorrow; G. O. P. Convenes Today.

With the Republican central committee scheduled to hold its reorganization meeting in the probate courtroom at 7:30 p. m. today, the Democatic central committee meeting was announced for the same place at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Both parties will elect central committee chairmen and both are expected to make changes. John Hess, G.O.P. central committee head, is expected to be replaced by a Shelby man, with Ralph Carroll, county probation officer, said to have the inside track.

Robert Landfair, East Mansfield, was being most prominently mentioned for the Democratic chairmanship, to succeed G. A. Baer, not actively seeking another term.

CASE CONTINUED

Proprietor Ill, State Department Wage Hearing Postponed.

A continuance was granted today in the case of the Ohio department of Industrial Relations against the Southern hotel, charging under-payment of employes, because of the illness of N. O. Weamer, hotel proprietor.

The state department filed suit last February in behalf of Irene Winsky, hotel employe, for wages alleged to be due her under the state wage and hour law for women.

Weamer is ill in General hospital. No date was set for the case in common pleas court.

TRIAL DATES OF 13 ARRESTED IN DRY RAIDS SET

Three Plead Guilty, 10 Others Deny Bootlegging; Hearings on May 31, June 7.

Thirteen alleged bootleggers, all colored, arrested in a series of raids early Sunday morning by state liquor agents and city police were arraigned in municipal court this morning on charges of keeping places where liquor is illegally sold and of sale of liquor without a permit.

Three pleaded guilty to the charges and 10 entered innocent pleas. All the cases were continued, 11 to be heard on May 31 and two on June 7.

Carl Epps, colored, 259 North Franklin, charged with interfering with an officer pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs.

The raids were staged by 10 agents of the state department of liquor control and 12 Mansfield officers simultaneously at eight different addresses, all in the north end.

Those who will be arraigned May 31 and the charges are: John Pinkney, 259 North Franklin avenue, keeping a place where liquor is sold; Felicia Ramirez, 261 North Franklin avenue, sale of liquor without a permit; Nettie Saunders, rear 247½ North Main street, sale; Willard Dowlin, 247½ North Main street, keeping; Betty Williams, 251 North Diamond street, sale; Thomas Crochen, rear 57 East Sixth street, keeping; Rosie Starr, rear 57 East Sixth street, sale; William Stacey, 275 North Diamond street, keeping; Pearson Wilson, 275 North Diamond street, sale; Minnie Morgan, 259 North Franklin avenue, sale.

Pleas of guilty were entered by Pinkney, Dowlin, and Williams. Those who pleaded innocent were Ramirez, Saunders, Crochen, Starr, Stacey, Wilson, and Morgan.

Continued to June 7 are the cases of Essex Evans, 246 North Diamond street, Rachel Grisson, 246 North Diamond street, both charged with illegal sale. Both pleaded innocent.

Bond was fixed at $1,000 on the charge of keeping a place where liquor is illegally sold cases and $500 on the cases involving sale of liquor without a permit.

There Is NO SUBSTITUTE for Cold Storage for Perfect Fur Preservation!

COLD

Protects Your Furs

There's a very good reason why leading fur authorities approve and recommend COLD STORAGE. It's because years of experience have proven that this method, not only offers perfect protection to furs . . . but preserves their natural oils, so essential to their beauty and lustre, and POSITIVELY PREVENTS DRYING OUT.

Insist on Cold Storage

HEAT

Is Injurious to Furs

Of course, you wouldn't want to leave your furs at home, in ordinary room temperatures, all summer. Yet some methods of fur storage employ chemicals, which are only effective at about 70 degrees Fahrenheit. HEAT DRYS OUT NATURAL OILS, affecting the lustrous richness and softness of furs.

AVIATION NEWS—

FLIGHT PUPILS GET INTO AIR IN BUSY WEEK

Civilian Students Get From 30 Minutes to Hour Aloft During First Week.

Flight instruction for students enrolled in the Civil Aeronautics Authority civilian pilot training program swung into high gear the past week. The nine youths and lone girl to make up the class have all turned in from a half hour to an hour of the 35 required for a pilot's license.

The flights which started Thursday reached a peak over the week-end and kept the two training ships at the municipal airport in the air almost constantly Saturday and Sunday.

Carl Austion of Jeromesville had the distinction of being the first student to go aloft with the instructor J. R. "Bud" Harrington.

Edward Smith, Mansfield youth who stood high in the recent ground school exams, received his first flight instruction yesterday when he took his initial ride in an airplane. To catch up on his belated instruction, Eddie was up in the morning and then took additional training in the evening.

* * *

Likely to give the airport another "shot in the arm" along with the CAA program is another phase of the U. S. air force expansion—a plan suggested by the President the past week to train 7,000 military pilots a year.

Representing the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association, Dr. L. D. Bonar will go to Washington this week to consult with the CAA on the possibilities of the government making Mansfield as one of its bases of operations.

His argument will be that the local port with a record student volume, an accredited school and a government inspector may be able to increase its facilities and qualify to give basic training to part of that bloc of 7,000 student pilots.

And with the government considering an outlay of $100,000,000 to subsidize development of airports as part of national defense program along with the construction of 50,000 airplanes, Mansfield has the advantage of a strategic location in the region between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, favored by federal authorities.

The field is less than half an hour by air from the important Army Air corps research and engineering base in Dayton and has available rail connections at the east end of the field which might even provide interest to plane manufacturers considering locations in Ohio.

The Chamber of Commerce is known to have already had inquiries from west coast plane manufacturers concerning facilities at the field and it is possible that in the not distant future the airplane industry will be included in Mansfield's diversified field of manufacture.

* * *

The record of students enrolled at the airport has reached a total of 78 with approximately 50 of them active. This is the largest number ever to be receiving instruction at one time in the history of the airport.

So busy was Harrington giving flight instructions yesterday that between 9 a. m. and 7 p. m. he spent less than half an hour on the ground between stops for fuel. He ate his lunch on the run too—taking a couple of sandwiches and a bottle of milk aloft with him.

New students added to the list the past week included Walter Powell, the band leader who entertains hopes of soloing before he leaves Mansfield in a month. Others were Harold Ady, Olivesburg, Dwight Terrell and Donald Trashler.

Flight-tested by Harrington—the first under his new authority as CAA inspector—were Homer Kysor and William Kick, both of whom passed examinations for private pilot tickets.

* * *

Norman Kann, president of the Richland chapter of the NAA and Ralph Shelton, vice president of the Art Rattan Works, set a 20-minute flight record to Vermilion yesterday when they rode a strong tail wind to the lake in Ralph's ship.

They were grounded there for nearly five hours by rain and had almost decided to return to Mansfield by auto when the skies cleared sufficiently to let them through. They made the return trip in 35 minutes.

5-YEAR PLAN FOR BUILDING HOMES URGED

Toledoan Advocates Program Costing $10,000,000 to Eliminate Shacks.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An Ohio business leader advocates a five-year plan of home-building to cost $10,000,000,000.

Carlton K. Matson of Toledo, a former newspaperman, said the Federal Housing Administration had laid a foundation for such a streamlined boom which he suggested would do away with the "shack and garage" type of small houses.

"The FHA," said Matson, who attended the Retail Lumber Dealers' association here, "has shown the way of making long-term financing possible on the basis of minimum down payments. It has shaken the grip of second mortgages, usurious interest rates, and cumbersome financing.

"It's now up to the building interests to streamline the business on the basis of large-scale manufacture."

Matson expressed gratification over FHA Administrator McDonald's proposal to carry out the FHA program in small communities as well as large cities and thereby spread benefits to the building industry.

Discussing in his speech the relationship of labor costs to building costs in small home building, Matson said "the federal government is doing something about jurisdictional pettifogging in the building trades industry, and is doing it from the vantage point of having unquestionably established its interest in the cause of labor.

"But labor cannot be expected to make any great concessons in the matter of total wage cost of the job until the building industry does a thorough job of demonstrating that it can engage in large-scale production which will lengthen and stabilize employment in the building trade industry."

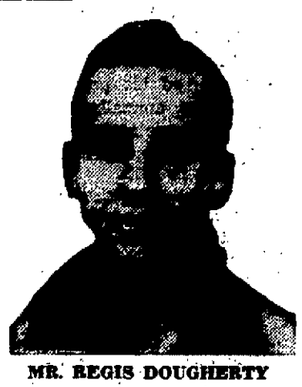
Always Suffered From Gas In Stomach After Eating

Messenger at Mansfield Post-Office Had "Heartburn," Acid Risings, Belching, Cramps and Other Troubles Associated With Constipation. Tells How "Vendol" Gave Satisfying Relief, and Advises Sufferers to Try It.



MR. REGIS DOUGHERTY

Here is another victory to the credit of Vendol, the popular medicine made from extracts of Roots and Herbs with mild Alkalines added for double benefits. It comes from among the many endorsements given by well known and leading citizens who have found Vendol so beneficial.

Mr. Regis Dougherty, young 19-year-old messenger at the local postoffice, who lives at 275 Marion avenue, this city, gives the following experience: "I had suffered almost continually from constipation which made me feel bad in many ways, one of which was that after eating my stomach would become upset, the food would churn, and gas form in such large amounts that I'd feel full and bloated, breath came hard, acid risings burned my throat, and felt like a lump would choke me.

"It also made me nervous, and many a restless hour was spent after going to bed; then I'd feel washed out next morning from a headache and bad taste in my mouth.

"So many people I know were taking Vendol and found it so good, that I began taking it a few weeks ago. The first bottle proved how good it is, and now I'm feeling so good that I'm thankful I started taking it.

"Vendol relieved my constipation thoroughly, yet with ease, and after that it seemed all the upset stomach conditions passed off. Vendol is a splendid medicine, and I'm glad to recommend it."

If Vendol helped this person living right here at home, it will do the same for you, so why not begin taking this double-acting compound made from Senna, Dandelion, Queen's Root, May Apple, Anis Seed, and 7 other roots and herbs combined with valuable alkalines. Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts.; learn how Vendol will help you also. All drug stores sell Vendol.—Adv.

PHILIPPINES NEED TO CUT EXPENDITURES

Surplus of $8,500,000 Left Islands by Uncle Sam Nearly Wiped Out.

MANILA, P. I.—(U.P.)—Philippines President Manuel L. Quezon has sharpened his pruning knife to halt the annually increasing cost of government in the islands since establishment of the Commonwealth in 1935.

The Commonwealth government has levied many new taxes to meet steadily increasing governmental budgets, but the returns from those taxes have failed to keep pace with expenditures. The unappropriated, unallocated cash surplus of nearly $8,500,000 at the time the United States handed over control of the insular government to Quezon's Commonwealth administration has dwindled until it will barely total $1,000,000 at the end of the next fiscal year.

"This situation demands the exercise of caution," Quezon warned the National Assembly in pointing out various economies he proposed to effect. Largest economy provided in his budget for the next fiscal year was in national defense. He proposed a saving of $578,394 by combining the Philippines army and constabulary. By eliminating the annual national mobilization of army trainees and estimated $1,000,000 will be saved.

Tax Receipts Down.

Disappointing returns from the increased tax levies of the last two years have been largely responsible for the present pruning of expenditures. With total revenue collections of $45,324,198 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939, the Commonwealth enacted a new revenue code designed to produce an additional $5,000,000 annually. However, bureau of internal revenue estimates anticipate collections of $43,718,325 for the fiscal year ending next June 30, or more than $1,500,000 less than for the previous year.

"When the National Assembly was passing the new tax laws, leading busines men warned that basic changes in the tax structure would disrupt business and would not increase revenues," the Philippines Free Press commented editorially. "Assemblymen listened tolerantly and then passed the new tax laws. But when the new budget was presented to the National Assembly a few days ago, it became apparent that the business men knew what they were talking about."

Building Program in Doubt.

What effect the dwindling governmental revenues will have on the Quezon administration's ambitious public building program remains unclear. The American Congress has forbidden the use of proceeds of the coconut oil excise tax refunded to the Philippines by the U. S. Treasury for anything but economic readjustment in anticipation of an independent Philippines in 1946. Originally, Quezon's government had allocated part of the more than $50,000,000 "windfall" thus far received from the excise tax refund to building stately new governmental buildings, and construction of several of these buildings has already been started.

Extensive additions and improvements have been made to historic Malancanang Palace, home of Spanish and later American governors-general until it became the residence of the Philippines president in 1935. Across the Pasig river, which the stately palace overlooks, a large tract of land has been acquired and converted into Malacanang recreation park for use of Filipino chief executives.

Presidential Project Rises.

Thus far constructed on the tract are a large banquet hall, outdoor dance pavilion, three guest houses and a huge tiled swimming pool. Several launches and a ferryboat make it convenient for the president and his guests to commute between the recreational retreat and the palace across the river.

A new $750,000 city hall for Manila is nearing completion. Nearby two massive structures—one for the bureau of commerce and the other for the bureau of agriculture—are under construction. Whether funds obtained from the refund of U. S. coconut oil excise taxes may be used to complete these buildings has not been determined.

Quezon's pruning of military expenditures as a means of curtailing governmental expenses was not entirely unexpected. Several times since German absorption of Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland, the adroit Filipino leader has publicly expressed doubt whether a heavily armed small nation can avert armed aggression from a larger nation.

BET HE'S GOP.

CORYDON, Ind. —(AP)—Dr. William W. Christley, Corydon dentist, found a tiny china elephant in the debris of the 1937 Ohio River flood. He kept it. Since then, he has collected more than 700 toy elephants, big and little, in every kind of material from ivory to sponge. He keeps them in his office.

GETS MEDAL

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(U.P.)—Joseph J. Powell, 42, has been decorated for World war gallantry 22 years after he braved heavy gun fire at Cantigny, France, to deliver a message to American soldiers attacking German positions.

"I got the medal because I was one of the fastest runners in my outfit," said Powell, now maintenance superintendent for a suburban school board. "I was lucky."

RICHMAN BROTHERS

TROPICAL WORSTED

SUIT

$16.50

This is not a cotton, mohair or rayon garment, but a pure featherweight all-worsted business suit.

Well tailored, too, with thousands of tiny air pores to keep you cool and comfortable.

So amazingly springy that it resists wrinkles and holds its shape in the hottest, stickiest weather.

A big selection of patterns and colors to choose from. Sizes for all builds and proportions insure you of perfect fit.
